Lots of things happening in Las Vegas, some good, some not so good, and some really out of the ordinary.

I have been always interested in spiritual healing of any kind. Colors are healing for me. Gem vibrations bring me comfort and joy! An object that received good energy from the owner and was given with pure sincerity, I cherish.

My son, long ago, gave my husband and myself some very special socks bought in an exclusive shop with the right design that lifted up our spirits. They were bought and given with extra love! My daughter came back from Europe, where she played professional basketball, brought stones found on Italian beaches and French soil. We put all of them in a crystal vase and we all feel connected with these lands of my youth, my homelands.

So this weekend at the International Peace Education Center (IPEC) in Las Vegas there was healing going on from sicknesses and traumas from our past difficult ancestry, etc. Purifying our spirit of bad energies by tapping our shoulders and other parts of our body was energizing and refreshing.

Sounds can also heal and restore! Cleaning our environment at home by decluttering and cleansing around us create peace and love (good feng shui) and creates energy which assists the development of our soul. It is said that classical music has high vibrations for our good health.

I had medical "Ansu" on my back. I think this will be the future of medicine to advance progress in wellness for all humankind. Our health is also connected with evil entities attached to our organs and they need to be removed and replaced with good spirits entities around us which facilitate happiness and total well-being. To tell you the truth I did love my medical tapping.

Let's create a heavenly environment on earth!
