

Valentine's Day: When All That's Left Is Love

For many years my husband and I pledged to be "laborers who are working to establish the one world of the heart." We continued by saying that "We will fight with our life and we will be responsible in front of God for accomplishing our duty and mission."

To love each other forever was our mission in life, because love and mission are not totally separated.

Conquering the Original Sin was brutal.

Conquering evil by working to establish the One World of the Heart has been a dream come true.

When one of us had to go to the spiritual realm and said, "I will be always with you, forever together," we put a milestone in establishing the Kingdom of God on earth as it is in heaven.

Happy Valentine's everyone!
