Breakfast at the Orchard with friends and associates

Yesterday we had a breakfast party on the sunny patio downstairs from my apartment with friends and neighbors. Miraculously the food appeared on time because of Andy and Solange who made a delicious omelet that everyone enjoyed. Food is love, especially if it is cooked for someone else. The Cosco croissants were bought with a "thinking of others" thought which arrived inside the Viennoiseries. Everyone could taste it!

As for myself, I had a rough week because my apartment was in chaos and I did not feel ready for hosting anything but somehow we did. Then I thought of my Parent the Heavenly Father and Mother who first had a thought to make a world where the children could live. The very last creations were human beings: You can read in the Bible that we were created in the image of God, man and woman he created them in His very own image.

In Unification Theology it is said and explained as in the Bible also that out of chaos God brought order. When order was there and everything was ready for God's children, with miraculous food and plants, fruits, and fish and meats to eat around them, God breathed into His children the breath of life. Because God was dreaming of a loving family where God the Parent could live among them.
