Introducing our second speaker in the lineup for our Global Women's Peace Network Reflect. Reset. Rebuild series, Dr. Tina D. Pierce!

Dr. Tina D. Pierce serves as a program manager of the John Glenn College of Public Affairs Professional Development Programs at The Ohio State University (OSU). Her service in higher education spans two decades and includes teaching, advising, and research experience. An experienced educator and interdisciplinary scholar, she taught at OSU in the John Glenn College of Public Affairs and Political Science Department; Denison University in the Center for Black Studies, Department of Political Science, and Department of Women's Studies.

Dedicated to transformative change in communities, in 2011 she established WORTH (Working Through Obstacles Reaching True Heights), an education consulting company that provides evidence-based trainings and programs to cultivate leadership and increase civic engagement.

Dr. Pierce has garnered a reputation as a highly-effective facilitator empowering people who desire lifelong opportunities and a voice in their community. Passionate about community service, Dr. Pierce is a proud member of the Columbus Board of Education and the Ohio School Board Association Central Region Board of Trustees. She is the President of OSU Undergraduate Student Government Alumni Society.

She is a graduate of OSU, earning a Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science with a Graduate Interdisciplinary Specialization in College and University Teaching; a Master of Arts in Political Science; a Bachelor of Arts in Social and Behavioral Sciences with Distinction in Political Science; and a Bachelor of Arts in Humanities with Distinction in African American and African Studies. A lifelong resident of Columbus, she attended Columbus City Schools graduating from Beechcroft High School. Dr. Pierce and her husband, Andrew Pierce Sr., have four children Andrew II, Malcolm, Catherine, and Michelle.

During our upcoming live Reflect. Reset. Rebuild session, she will be sharing on “Crisis in Education: An Opportunity for Partnerships with Parents.”
