Living by the Logic of Love

Happy Father's Day 2015!

Dear fathers,

We need you more than ever in our families, communities, nation and world to express the love of a father, which is so beautifully expressed in the poem below.

It takes these kinds of parental actions from the heart to counteract and prevent our crimes, violence, abuse and hate in a very substantial way, such as the most recent crimes in Charleston South Carolina. We need your help to move closer to a peaceful society, nation, and world.

WFWP USA wishes all fathers a most Happy Father's Day 2015!

Warmly,

Angelika Selle,
President WFWP USA
Chairwomen, Board & Staff

*When I had fallen, you helped me stand. When I cried, you gently wiped the tears away from my face. When I would find anger towards you, you patiently stood your ground until I found the reason of your ways. When I was sick, you sat by my side, held and kissed my hand until illness passed. When others had hurt me with unkind words, you gave me the strength to stand up strong & tall. You are my Inspiration.
I love
you.*
