

Share My Passion: The Longest Fight You'll Ever Have

Hyojoo Song
November 16, 2016

Hi all! Get ready for our second Share My Passion of the year!

This event is a great chance to hear about something different to whatever you study in university or for work, you never know how cool you may actually find the topic and want to look into it more.

Our November talk will be given by Hyojoo Song – an awesome wonwhado (martial arts) teacher. He'll be talking about aspects including how martial arts taught and gave him a certain approach to dealing with all different kinds of challenges in life. This actually applies to anything one is passionate about and constantly practices to better themselves in.

Share Your Passion is an opportunity to hear from a young person who aspires to use their talents and become a true leader in the future, in their own unique and impactful ways!

Each talk is given in an open and welcoming environment, with a Q&A session after their talk. Got something to share about this topic? You're welcome to share, too.

Come check it out! Open to all interested.

Wednesday 23rd November, 6.30pm, 43 LG Cafe

Free entry!

Snacks provided!
