October 26, 2026

HJ International Graduate School for Peace and Public Leadership is delighted to invite you to join us for the first of our Faculty Roundtable series of this semester on Thursday, October 29, at 7 pm New York Time (ET).

Join us for an engaging Faculty Roundtable session on "What Makes Life Meaningful: Mortality, Natality, and Responsibility in Heidegger, Arendt and Frankl," with Dr. Keisuke Noda, Professor of Philosophy, HJI, following his September presentation at the 25th World Congress of the Viktor Frankl Institute. The discussion will explore life's limitations, our capacity for new beginnings, and our responsibility to respond to life's challenges, inviting participants to reflect on what we are called to do in the present moment.

Register Here!

Dr. Thomas Walsh, President, HJI will host the discussion with Dr. Noda.

Learn more about Dr. Noda's philosophy series, Encounters, at www,encounters-philosophy,org.

We look forward to seeing you there!
