

Daily Etiquette in Human Relationships

Encourage young people to express etiquette in relationships

Bucharest, Romania,
November 30, 2016

focus more on what we give to others in order to truly bring everlasting joy in their hearts.

We all agreed that for a person to manifest good manners and etiquette in human relationships, that person must first learn to express a loving heart.

Only by practicing this kind of mindset of living for the sake of others can our behavior bring joy to those around us.

And last but not least, we decided to start doing ManMulBokKi together with Carp members in order to support the coming Christmas Projects.

We are grateful for God and True Parents for bringing us all together to work for a greater purpose. United we can all be the changes we want to see around us.

By Romania CARP Team

Last Wednesday, in Romania Carp our young members participated in weekly Carp meeting. Firstly, the members decorated the Peace Center for Christmas. Each of them helped put up the Christmas tree and made it so that the atmosphere would be welcoming for all people who come to Romania CARP.

Secondly, we discussed about manners and how important etiquette is in daily human relationships. We decided to implement norms on how members should behave in the Peace center but also in society.

Thirdly we had a HDH about Kindness of heart and got inspiration from Mother Teresa. We read one of her speeches in which she encourages people to give continuous joy to the ones around us and raise them up with good words and kind gestures. "To bestow kindness means to pave the way of love" as she said, inspired us to