

Do you agree that the Unification Movement needs to unite and heal within at some point in order to be victorious?

Anne-Marie Mylar

June 3, 2023

Unite: Yes

Heal: Will take a long time and therefore the victory is when everyone accepts the fact that we don't all think alike, but are willing to do our best to respect, work, and grow together.

Once my husband asked me the following question: How long do you think it is going to take to have Heaven on earth - literally.

I responded: 2,000 years. He was shocked, he could not fathom that it would take that long. But I did.

Why?

Even, if we had every single person living on earth today, blessed and educated and understanding the value of the blessing, most of them will still be spiritual infant. It is going to take them the rest of their lives on earth to grow and go from infant to possibly teens.

I am 72 years old, my personality is such that I had to lie to my priest every week, so that he had "sins" to forgive me. I did not have any sins (at least to my child understanding), I made them up. However, since my husband departure (and probably because of it), I have come to truly understand that I know very little about what it means to be someone "like God" and be capable to be the lord of the universe, which is the status that God wants us to reach.

So, 2,000 is not so bad, if during these 2,000 we are all trying to do our best.

Spiritual growth comes first.

What is spiritual growth: It is applying the principle of living for the sake of other and learning how to make it happen without ignoring our own needs (not easy to do)

Spiritual growth has nothing to do with rituals - however, rituals can help (but they have to remain in the object position)

Then the way we do everything else will improve:

- Politics
- Media
- Entertainment
- Science
- Education
- Environment
- Art

Media and Entertainment industries are the two that could expedite the ability for u, because they are the medium that all of us use to get information. Unfortunately, the information we get is 95% of the time leading humanity into the wrong direction.