

FFWPU UK: Resonance Worship - Our First Two Weeks As A Band

Hi everyone, Sophia here - one of the leaders of Resonance Worship, and I just wanted to take a moment to share what an incredible couple of weeks it's been for our band and what it's meant to us to serve our wider community through music and worship.

Our first stop was at Stanton Fitzwarren, where Ali, Hanul, and I joined the Empower team and their guests for one of their final evenings before heading home from their UK mission. It was such a relaxed and beautiful evening - we played in the garden, jammed some of our favorite worship songs on guitar, and even shared sneak peeks of a few original songs we've been working on. The atmosphere was peaceful, full of laughter, testimonies, and connection. It reminded us of the power of simple worship shared among friends.

Then came our first full-band gig - in Prague from the 13th - 15th of June for the High Noon Youth Summit. This was such a special experience for all of us. We led a full worship concert on Saturday night and supported smaller moments of worship throughout the weekend. One of the most moving parts was how testimonies from participants were woven into the worship, creating a truly vulnerable, serene, and spiritually rich atmosphere. It was inspiring to dream together as a band about how much we want to grow this ministry and continue bringing music to our community.

Most recently, we had the chance to support the Annual Gathering Festival at Cleeve House last weekend. We arrived two days early to rehearse and prepare, and it was such a blessing to lead our UK family in worship throughout the weekend. On Saturday night, we sang Waymaker alongside the Spirituality Team during the evening session, and then led worship again before Sunday's main service. So many people shared kind words about the energy and unity of the band.

It's only been two weeks, but already I feel God moving through this project. We've got big hopes ahead - including the release of our first original EP by the end of this year. We're so excited to continue growing, serving, and sharing this journey with all of you. Thank you for your support - we truly couldn't do it without the love and encouragement of our community!
