

Apply for the 2019 fall semester at Sunhak Universal Peace Graduate University

Thomas Selover
May 21, 2019

The Sunhak Universal Peace Graduate University is now accepting submissions for the fall semester of their 2019 graduate program. The deadline to apply is July 12, 2019.

The graduate program is looking for young adults with a passion to serve the world. Their motto is "Love God, Love Humanity, Love All Nations." They aim to be the top educational institution focused on nurturing a new generation of peacemakers ready to enter all the pillars of society to spearhead the path toward world peace and Cheon Il Guk. Sunhak UP Graduate University's three key areas of training are peace governance, global peace management and becoming spiritual leaders representing True Parents in all fields.

The Sunhak Universal Peace Graduate University is a result of merging Universal Peace Academy and Cheongshim Graduate School of Theology into one focus.

The Sunhak UP Graduate University is located in the Seorak Mountains near the Cheong-Jeong Museum in Gapyeong County, South Korea, 77 miles from the Incheon International Airport. Students have direct access to the Hyojeong Cheonwon complex and are surrounded by the beautiful Korean countryside.

Students can expect routine outings and trips alongside other second- and third-generation Unificationists from around the world. These trips offer the chance to create lasting memories and bonds of friendship while learning about the Heavenly Parent, True Parents and Unificationist roots.

Courses are offered in two languages: Korean and English, allowing students to learn in the language that makes them most comfortable to speak and write.

Dorms are available for foreign students. The Sunhak UP Graduate University offers both doctoral and masters degrees.
