True Mother Granted 3rd Suspension of Detention for Medical Treatment until April 30

A Seoul court today granted True Mother her third consecutive suspension of detention for medical treatment — temporarily releasing her until April 30. The condition: she must remain at her treatment hospital and nowhere else.

From Rev. Dunkley:

BREAKING: Dr. Han, one month medical release. Serious.

On tour around North America the most precious question I hear is, “How is True Mother?” Sometimes it feels like faith requires a positive answer, but members want to know the truth. Again, True Mother was absent from a court hearing and her lawyer gave the following explanation:

“Since last weekend, Dr. Han has been experiencing severe chest tightness to the point where she cannot sit or lie down. During the weekend, the detention center is unable to provide any medical support, and her condition has not improved. According to her attending physician, the symptoms may be due to heart failure caused by atrial fibrillation or a pulmonary dysfunction.”

Mother reportedly stated, “It is difficult to get through each day now. Even swallowing rice is hard.”

Please pray for True Mother’s strength. I don’t know what more I can say. I don’t know what more I can say. I really don’t know what I can say, as long as we are dealing with a people who can allow this.
