UPF held the first session of a series titled World Scriptures Build Bridges.

The start made Raghunatha priya das and Sucitra devi dasi, representatives of Hare Krishna in our nation. For many years the couple visits our events. Raghunatha held a captivating lecture under the motto "My journey to God".

During the communist era, he attended meetings of various spiritual groups. For his opposition activities, he was sentenced to 26 months of penal servitude. One day he discovered the Bhagavad-Gita in the private library of a friend; this was the turning point in his life. He ardently studied the Vedas and met teachers from India. Later he pioneered and lead the movement in Slovakia.

Many colorful pictures and witty comments made us familiar with their faith, activities, and traditions.

At the end of the uplifting talk, the couple served snacks prepared with special prayers.

All participants (14) were delighted and wish to listen to other faiths groups.

"My journey to God" is the best tool to get to know deeper the individual believer's motivation and heart.
