UPF New Zealand hosted a UN International Day of Peace event at the Parnell Peace Embassy and the War Memorial Museum on September 20.

Held under the theme "United for Peace, Celebrating Our Shared Harmony," the event was attended by about 40 religious leaders, and peace ambassadors.

Hindu leaders Aresh Maharaj and Pundit Direndra Nath emphasized the significant role of faith in promoting peace.

UPF New Zealand Secretary-General Geoffrey Fyers introduced True Parents' peace vision and stated that in order to overcome obstacles to peace, the UN should expand the participation of religious leaders in its work.
