WFWP Czech Republic held 4th GWPN conference 30 January 2016. This time the issue was „Women-Faith-Life“. We connected GWPN conference to World Interfaith Harmony Week (1-7 February 2016) proclaimed by UN.

Conference started by two songs - If I were free and Imagine by John Lennon - being sang by international group of young people showing that we can make the world one human family under God.

Altogether 19 women came together representing four various Christian churches,

Buddhism and Islam. All women together created wonderful atmosphere of mutual understanding, love and support. Among participants there were 5 previously appointed Ambassadors for Peace. They didn't come as guests only but from the very beginning took initiative for the event. as true owners.

Alicja Piskackova, Ambassador for Peace and UC member was caring for introducing all lecturers. Marcela Rozehnalova, WFWP president, introduced WFWP and its projects, gave short report accompanied by photos from European WFWP conference being held in Prague in November 2015. After she explained more about one human family under God no matter what religions, races, nationalities and cultures. She also explained key points of Principle of Creation (dual characteristics, give and take action, purpose of life – 3 Blessings given by God to humanity, periods of growth and relationship between physical and spiritual world emphasizing importance of our physical daily life and acts of love.

Jana Silerova, bishop

After the bishop of Czechoslovak Hussite Church, -first woman bishop in Eastern and Middle Europe - Jana Sileroва was talking about women in religionist systems.

We could experience extraordinary unity and mutual connection through universal peace dances being lead by Ambassador for Peace Dana Jirkalova. We made a ceremony of lightening candles for each religion and after we were singing and dancing songs inspired by Jewish tradition (Hajda Hajda), Christian tradition of South America (Altissimo Corazon), by tradition of north America Indians (May I walk in beauty), Song Shalom Shalom Halelujah expressed unity of Jewish, Christian and Sufi tradition, while May I take peaceful steps upon the Earth was inspired by Buddhism and Kyrie Eleison by Christianity again. In the end we experienced deep heart to heart contact bowing in front each other expressing mutual love and respect.

After the lunch four new Ambassadors for Peace were appointed.

Newly appointed Ambassadors for Peace

After one of them – Hana Marie Vaji- introduced project they want to do as Ambassadors for Peace under WFWP – encouraging all people to put special spring flower into their windows by the occasion first spring day – 20 March - symbolizing key human values.

Next we were listening to deep explanation about mutual love and respect from another Ambassador for Peace - Buddhist Gantulga Ganjuur from Mongolia.

Incredibly moving was personal testimony of Muslim lady Katarina P. who also explained the key points and values in Islam.

Christian lady – Ambassador for Peace Petra Hutkova explained about how false words can harm.

In last session Ambassador for Peace, astrologist Jana Maskova introduced the meaning of what we can expect in 2016.

Other Ambassador for Peace Eleonora Prazakova, who is very much supportive to WFWP, explained shortly about the healing method by the help of crystalloid pictures. The method is called Biltera – which means God’s infusion of love for the Earth. Two day seminar teaching how to work with this method will be held 18-19 March 2016.
