

SET SAIL WS 2018

Ship ahoy!

Ready to challenge the elements? There are storms raging in the world and sometimes also within ourselves. Some may say it's safer to stay in the harbour where no waves can hit us. But that's not what ships are built for! True Parents want us to be brave and conquer the seas. They are our light house, our beacon of hope amid the storm. This sailing workshop offers you the opportunity to once again set your inner compass, be part of a crew and:

Set SAIL – Hope on the Horizon!

“Even if the waves have risen and a fearful wind is blowing, the fish in the water have no trouble sleeping. They give themselves over to the waves and don't resist them. I decided not to be afraid, no matter how strong the waves were. This is what I learned from the fish.” (SMM – Autobiography, p. 171)

As the Set Sail Workshop 2017 was such a big success, we found the courage to set sails also in 2018. We have to register early, as otherwise our space will be taken. We know that to plan ahead for August 2018 is not easy but here we have the facts:
