NASA's Artemis II Crew Beams Official Moon Flyby Photos to Earth

How's this for a simile?

We've got astronauts going farther than any human has ever gone into outer space, seeing a side of the moon that no person has ever seen with their own eyes. The hope is to find a way for humans to follow, setting up an outpost in a completely new place. For thousands of years we have looked up at the moon, unimaginably far away, and dreamed of going there, even for an unforgettable moment. We watched amazed when someone actually stood on it for a short time. Now we're talking not just of visiting the moon, but living there.

True Parents are the pioneers of inner space. They have gone farther in relationship to God than anyone, seeing a side of Heavenly Parents that no one else has seen. They have traveled farther into this realm of heart, paving the way for many to follow their footsteps and live there, pioneering a new way to live. For thousands of years, many have dreamed of touching God for just a moment. Now we plan to go beyond just visiting our Heavenly Parents, but living with them.
