Prayer as Participation

I have been listening to the book, "Praying Like Monks, Living Like Fools" by Tyler Staton, pastor, and national director of the 24-7 Prayer USA. In Chapter 7, The Middle Voice--Pray as Participation, Tyler Staton says that the assumption of prayer is that God's action always precedes my request. In other words, the aim is not to get God in on what I think he should be doing. Rather, the aim of prayer is to get us in on what God is doing, become aware of it, join it, and enjoy the fruit of participation. Staton quotes author Eugene Peterson describing this type of prayer as praying in the middle voice. "When we pray in the middle voice, we neither manipulate God (active voice) nor are manipulated by God (passive voice). We are involved in the action and participate in its result but do not control or define it (middle voice). Prayer takes place in the middle voice." Tyler Staton goes on to explain how prayer as participation is about joining together in active partnership. Contemplating this from the perspective of a parent, I realized that there is much more for me to discover about cultivate this partnership.
