The Deeper Connection Podcast

In this episode, Rafael Guignard describes how he went from being a rebellious teenager who almost died from drinking too much alcohol to finding his own faith while doing a church gap year program which strengthened his relationship with his parents. Through these experiences, Rafael made decisions in his life:

- to focus on creating loving relationships instead of being right
- to find gratitude for his parents and see past challenges with them in a new light
- choosing to attend the Marriage Blessing and commit to creating a loving family

Rafael is a certified Life and Performance Coach as well as the national Family Federation church leader in France.

Noticing

There is a story of a professor who gave the class a pop quiz. The final question was a surprise to everyone: “What is the first name of the woman who cleans our classroom?” Some of the students thought this was some kind of joke. Many had seen the janitor and even bumped into her several times. She was tall, dark-haired and in her fifties. When the time was up, all students handed their quiz with all, but the last question answered. Nobody knew her name. At the end of the class, one student asked if the last question would count toward the quiz grade. The professor replied, “Absolutely, in your work and in life, you will meet many people. All are significant. They deserve your attention and care, even if all you do is smile and say ‘hello.’”
