

Creating a World of Peace

A 2024 Calendar

from The Mother of Peace: A Memoir
by Hak Ja Han Moon

Your heart is your closest teacher.
 In the face of difficulty or confusion, ask your heart.
 You are designed to hear God's true voice which resides deep within it.

What you sacrifice is important, but why you make that sacrifice is even more important.

Without sacrifice and service, one cannot even begin to think one is living for the sake of others rather than for oneself.

In the early years I planted yellow daffodils at Belvedere and our nearby East Garden residence and conference center. Why daffodils? Daffodils are the harbingers of spring. As the first flowers to pierce through the frozen ground after withstanding the cold of winter, they herald the coming of warmth and new life.

Within a few years, our small quarters were filled to bursting with our many children. I considered them to be miniature expressions of God. I would kiss their cheeks and chat affectionately with them, and I prayed for them ceaselessly. I knew that God comes to dwell in the home where parents and children are harmonious.

When we stayed in Kodiak, Alaska, young people
from around the world
came to receive our teaching.
I did not lecture or preach to them. I only offered the advice, "Go out to sea.
On the sea, you will discover what God wants to teach you."

Religious teachings and political and social reforms are important, but we cannot create a happy world through these alone. Today many people have lost their moral direction, and we lament the dominance of materialism. The only way to heal this pain is by living lives of true love for the sake of others, not thinking about oneself.
