Press Release from Korea for Foundation Day and Related Events

The 2012 International Joint Marriage Blessing ceremony at the Cheong Shim Peace World Center in Gapyeong, South Korea

Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, widow of the late Rev. Dr. Sun Myung Moon, has proclaimed that that a new era for the Family Federation for World Peace and Unification (FFWPU) will begin this month. February 21, 2013 is the day that Rev. Moon proclaimed as a “Day of Peace and Unity,” which is called Giwon Jeol, or, “Foundation Day.” On this day, Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon will inherit the great achievements to which Rev. Moon devoted his life and will lead FFWPU into a new era. An event will be held in Gapyeong, in the Gyeonggi province in South Korea, and approximately 50,000 participants, including VIPs, are expected to attend. In addition, 194 nations will participate via live broadcast.

Events leading to and following Foundation Day include a Joint Marriage Blessing ceremony, a “World Summit” conference, a youth leader’s conference, an interreligious soccer competition, a multicultural festival and a performance from the Universal Ballet in Seoul and Gapyeong, South Korea.

On February 17, 2013, 12,000 people will attend the International Joint Marriage Blessing Ceremony, during which 3,500 couples (or 7,000 people) will recite marriage vows at the Cheong Shim Peace World Center in Gapyeong. The couples are arriving from a total of 60 nations and will attend this event to start “true families.” The Foundation Day ceremony on February 21, 2013 and the International Joint Marriage Blessing ceremony will be broadcast live via internet to 194 nations.

The following is the schedule of events.
