

Response to Africa and True Parents' Touch by Bruno Klotz

Hamish and Chantal Robertson

October 18, 2017

Dear Bruno,

It is a great pity that you have advertised Sheikh Mansour Diouf's words that "the true Islam of the Qur'an, dictated by Prophet Muhammad, is Islam that advocated peace, development, the communion of hearts with God." Both he and you should know better than to repeat such words that fly in the face of history and present events.

There is a great difference between the Gospel of Jesus and the Qur'an. There is a possible comparison between the Old Testament and the words and actions of Muhammad. However, the Old Testament describes the creation ideal, and the Fall, and the painful history of restoration, which shows the battling between Cain and Abel sides, in order to prepare the way for the Messiah himself.

The religion of the Messiah, Jesus, is Christianity. There was no need for the successors of the prophet Muhammad to conquer the Christian lands of Palestine, Syria, Egypt, North Africa, Spain, Asia Minor and the Balkans, in the 7th century and after. The inhabitants of those countries already had the key to a far greater truth than Muslim religion.

A study of Shariah Law will show you that such a "law" is not meant for Christian people or the people of Cheon Il Guk. It cuts the hands off thieves, it gives a man the right to have four wives, and to divorce anyone of them by simply saying "I divorce you" three times. It should never be allowed a place in the law of any Christian country.

A study of the Qur'an and the hadith and the biography of Muhammad will reveal episodes such as the massacre of hundreds of males of the Jewish tribe, Bani Qurayza, at the command of Muhammad himself. They were lined up in front of a ditch and decapitated. Where did ISIS get its example, do you think?

The wives and children of the Bani Qurayza were sold into slavery, which very often meant sex-slavery. Muhammad gave permission to his soldiers to rape non-Muslims.

Among Muhammad's wives, the favourite was Ai'sha, whom he married at six years old and brought to bed at the age of nine. This is not natural nor godly.

There are many good people among those who practise Muslim, Buddhist and Hindu religions, and among agnostics and atheists, but we should be sure to teach eternal salvation through Jesus and True Father. This is something that FFWPU/WFWP/UPF, who are confused with Only Begotten Daughter theology and much else, should understand.

Best wishes,

Hamish and Chantal