Kingdom Minded

2023. 10. 15 TN

All righty folks. Wow! Everybody's on the floor, Asian style today. Let's give it up for our J-Team and K-Team in the house, everybody. (Applause)

Congratulations to all the young new kings and queens who got blessed yesterday. Let's give it up for our new young kings and queens, everybody! (Applause) Whoo! Praise God Almighty! Praise God! God is good.

Well, it's been a crazy, crazy, weekend, hasn't it? I've had a cold for about two weeks now or whatever it is, and it's been moving around. It is a pretty weird cold this time; I've had a head cold, fever and then it moves to your stomach and then it moves to your throat. It's pretty weird. Anyway, everybody's got to booster their immune system up at this time.

Former Pike County Commissioner Rich Caridi

The Rod of Iron Festival was a great event even though we had a pretty bad weather this year, but still over 3,000 patriots came. If we had good weather both days, we would probably have gotten double the amount, because usually when the weather's bad people don't want to come out. You have the wind; you have to rain. But still thank God when Gorka came out and our VVIP guests came out we had almost full house. So, it was wonderful.

We want to thank the planning committee, all the volunteers and especially in the local area in PA, the fire department, EMT, and all of them. Without all their support, the festival can't run. It can't just run off of our volunteers; the whole community, Pike County, is basically involved.

Rich Caridi was the head of our planning committee for many years. He was a former commissioner of Pike County, a very important and prominent leader in the Republican Party, and very close friends with us ever since we got to PA. He was a Marine. He passed just a couple of weeks ago, and he has his wake and funeral this upcoming weekend. So, I have to head back to PA to attend that and pay our respects. Folks in PA, if you can make time in your schedule, we'll go to his wake; Sunday at 1 o'clock.

Of course, I'll be with the folks up in PA. We'll do Sunday service over there since we have to be in PA to pay our respects to such a great patriot and such a great supporter of the Three Kingship and Cain & Abel. Let's give it up for Rich Caridi. (Applause) Rich, we know you are in a good place! And he is still with us fighting the good fight! Amen!

Ford Fischer @ News2Share

All right, folks. Well, we had an incredible Rod of Iron Festival. Let's go to our Rod of Iron Ministries Instagram page really quick to just get a quick recap. Check this out.

https://www.instagram.com/p/CyOn_McgFQv/?img_index=1 Newsweek, a big leftist magazine, one of the biggest in the world, Newsweek reported "The video of gun-wielding Donald Trump on pickup truck at festival goes viral." It was the Trump truck; the Trump truck went viral. Within a couple of hours, the Trump truck had 421, 000 views. (Applause)

Ford Fischer was one of the reporters at the event. Actually, he was quite neutral; he just put stuff up. He didn't just bias it; he kind of just reported what he saw. That young man was fair.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ford_Fischer

Usually, you have to expect that folks with media, they'll lie out of their teeth. They twist and turn everything possible to make anybody who supports Trump, anybody who is conservative, look like a lunatic. Anyway, these guys didn't; they actually just put it up and said, "There's the Trump truck and this is Trump with the Tommy gun, the iconic Tommy gun," and, "Merry MAGA, you filthy animal." Remember that from Home Alone 2? <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NozVpZj4i2Q> 421,000 views.

Next one: they put up almost the whole speech of the Sunday sermon, and last time I saw it, it had 75,000 views.

<https://www.facebook.com/N2Sreports/videos/2476653819178995> A lot of people were watching the sermon as well. Again, he was fair. He just put it up and said, "This is Pastor Sean of the Rod of Iron Festival." There was no twisting it. So, we were surprised, we were very surprised.

Next one: The auction of the Trump gun.

<https://www.facebook.com/N2Sreports/videos/677976644059022>

By the way, one local 80-year-old grandma, won the Trump AR-15. (Applause) Praise God Almighty! Wow! Isn't that amazing? 80-year-old grandmama! Don't mess with her, she'll whoop you; you'll come and die. We love it; we love it. Praise God. See, in Cheon Il Guk we have such beautiful, wonderful, and dangerous grandpas and grandmas. Let's give it up for our grandpas and grandmas up in the house today. (Applause) Praise Him. Hallelujah!

That's because of the rod of iron power right there. But Grandma, 80 years old, God bless her. Let her have 80 more years and let her enjoy the Trump AR-15 Commander-in-Chief. That had 111,000 views within a couple of hours. 111,000 views!

The Babylon Bonfire: This is the Babylon bonfire. Of course, you all remember we've been doing the ceremony. <https://www.facebook.com/watch/?v=2501877943316536> A ceremony is very important; ceremonies are powerful manifestations.

Now, let's go to the other side. The Satanists, they really get into ceremonies because they understand that ceremonies communicate so much powerful symbology, messages, etc. And by the way ceremonies are what last over time. Ceremonies last over time; they stay very strong over time. Even the Satanists know that.

So, we had the ceremony of the Babylon bonfire, burning the Harlot of Babylon.

The Satanists on the other side they do the Burning Man ceremony; every year they burn the effigy of a man because they're trying to destroy masculinity.

https://www.techtarget.com/whatis/definition/Burning-

Man They will burn the effigy of a man and basically, it's Jesus. So, they're trying to destroy the image of Christ, of Jesus; the man that gives his life to save other people and has that type of incredible supernatural courage and bravery.

See, they do that in order to have their Satanic kingdom come. The men become weak and beta-ized, become little females, and then they have the demonic feminists ruling over them, both the weak women and the weak men power-hungry demonic commies. This is what they do with the Burning Man.

The Babylon bonfire is the Harlot of Babylon as we see in Revelation chapter 17 and 18 being burned. The Harlot of Babylon pushing the culture of the Fallen Eve; the woman in unity with Satan trying to dominate the husband or the Christ figure. So, the burning of the Harlot of Babylon is the symbolic representation of the destruction of the Fallen Eve theology and the Fallen Eve culture, which does what? Beta-izes the boys, makes them weak and doesn't let them become strong men, strong brave protectors. They become cowards and they become power-hungry and lust-filled demonic little gremlins.

The Demonic Ancient Culture in America

And of course, ever since we've been doing the Babylon bonfire, we're praying against the culture which is dominant in the West. The culture of what? Killing the babies; the abortion culture, the demonic ancient culture of killing the babies. We've been praying against this and saying, "Let this culture be destroyed!" And after a couple of years of the burning, we finally have the downfall of Roe v. Wade for the first time in fifty years, since 1974.

Fifty years ago, America federalized, legalized, the murdering, the genocide of babies in the womb. Especially black babies by the way, who have about a fifty plus percent rate of being killed in the womb. It's this culture of hating children, hating marriage, hating these critical relationships which God has ordained, and this culture of demonizing them. Why? Because everybody becomes a hedonist, everybody just wants to play, play, play, play, "You're young, so just play, play; have sex. Go play. Be a slut, waste your time, go into debt." This whole stupid demonic culture. Instead of that, when you're young, you should be doing what? Investing in your future family. Amen!

Kings' Mindsets

You should be married and investing into your wife. Why? Because after forty your body starts breaking down, and you start getting critical diseases at fifty and sixty. And guess what? Your dang friends from high school or those people who said, "Oh, I'm always going to be by your side," they get busy with life, and they're not there at fifty, sixty years old when you got diabetes and cancer. Uh-uh. No! You know who's going to be there? Your husband's going to be there. Your wife is there. Your children, if you invested in them, are there. Those are the critical relationships that we have, and by the way, they're God-given. They're not just people you bump into along this path of life. No! These are God-given relationships. Amen! They're critical to invest in.

But what does the world teach you? "No, no, no, just focus on your money, focus on your job, focus on this and that." Then your family falls apart. I don't care how much money you make, if you're out there making tons of money, you're not going to be home, and your family will fall apart. Especially if both of you are doing it, you've fallen into the debt trap of the Satanic system. Your children need time; they need you. Hello. Hello. They need you to be there in those relationships. So, you have to invest your time and not just throw money at them, "Okay, go to private school and teachers will raise you." No, they'll raise them to be commies, demons and haters of God.

It's so critical that the parents be pre-planning this; that when you're young, you already may have a mindset of a king and not of a slave. As a slave, you just go into debt. You just follow the system. You just become a debt slave for the next forty years. You finally own your house at 65 years old, but then they got all these laws where you can't pass it down to your children, especially in the UK and the EU, etc. They take your house anyway, so you don't have anything. Your whole life, you've been paying off debts; that's all you've been doing. You've just been a farm animal.

And you never invest in your family, in your marriage; that's why it falls apart. You never invest in your children; that's why those relationships fall apart. No, that's the training they give slaves. They don't want the people to become kings and priests. They don't want you to become those who have prominence and power and property and position, but also who are Christ-like and trying to be compassionate to the community. Amen! They don't want that; they don't want any of that.

The king's training and the king's mindset is what? Long-term, generations ahead; generations ahead. That's why in kingdoms and monarchies, lineage is such a big, big, big, big deal. Successorship is such a big, big, big, big deal. Looking at your grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and looking down the line far, far, far. Not just, "Now, now, play, play, play, play; what's good for me; pleasure now." That's how they train slaves, so you don't have anything and you die with nothing including relationships. You have no relationship, you have nothing in your name, you have no lineage, you have no children. You've been taught to hate children, hate family, hate all that stuff, so, you have nothing when you die. You're just vapor in the wind; nothing remains.

Kings' Real Assets

No. Kings have a long generational mindset; that's why kings develop real assets, not paper money and stupid debt and stuff like that. No, kings accumulate real assets. Like critical ones that are what?

---Our relationship with God because our kingship is established upon the authority of God, not man. Amen! That's why in all the kingships of God, God has to be protected the most because God is the center. Without God none of these kingships are real. So, GOD is at the center, CHRIST, TRUE FATHER is at the center of the Kingship and then of course the Three Kingship. It is then the family kings, the tribal kings. All this community is an asset, isn't it? See, in a kingdom we become assets to one another. Amen! That's why relationships are so important; building those kingdom relationships. One part of the critical asset of kings is that network and is that community that will have your back if things go awry or things go bad. Critical!

---Then, what's another one? What is the stuff that kings also accumulate? Gold and silver and things like that; things that don't change over time as far as their whole value.

Why? Not so that the king at that generation can just play, because those kinds of kings fail; they get destroyed. But it's for the future, future preservation of the kingship. Are you with me, folks?

---And what else? Land, right? Land is very important. So, becoming landowners; becoming owners, and having sovereignty over your land.

---The rod of iron is so critical. It's the coat of arms. It's the ability to defend your land. So critical, so critical for the kings in the Kingdom. Not just being a slave of the state; that's socialism, communism and political Satanism. Cheon Il Guk Constitution, Godism, it's about owning property, having sovereignty and having the means to defend that property. That's the Rod of Iron Kingdom. Amen!

---And at the same time, since there's no federalized law enforcement or military- that's illegal- EVERYBODY is police and everybody is military. That's what the Peace Police and Peace Militia is. ALL of us are the police and all of us are the military, and that is enacting and living out, "Love God, love your neighbor." By you becoming more capable, you are becoming a better asset to your community, to your neighbor. Amen! You see that? See how that's interconnected?

That's why Peace Police-Peace Militia training is so important. Training is at the center of the Peace Police-Peace Militia. Why? Because there is no federal law enforcement, federal military; that's illegal. Why? Because the communists, socialists and any centralized power will use that federalized military or law enforcement to kill its citizens when it wants to do the genocide, and take absolute power. It's always the case. But in God's Kingdom, no. That's illegal. The CITIZENS are the ones that are armed and the citizens are the police and the military.

Husband-&Wife Training

That's why the training culture is so critical and so important, and ROOTING for one another, because your community Peace Police-Peace Militia is only as strong as the families that are there. So, we got to root for one another in the Kingdom; we got to root for each other's families being strong, husband and wife being strong. That's why husband and wife, you've got to be doing your training, invest in your time with your queen. You got to take her out on a date at least for a once-a-week training.

By the way, all the modern studies show the actual benefit of that; these are psychological studies done over decades. The couples who stay married the longest, guess what? They spend one-and-a-half hour of face time per week. Did you know that? That came out later. <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/kUEXVI4zw-o>

That one-on-one date training where you're going and you're praying over your queen and then you're sharing gratitude three and three; each sharing gratitude and creating the atmosphere of gratitude for one another instead of bemoaning and complaining like couples that collapse. Amen! No. You're doing that training. You are blessing your queen. You are blessing your king. And you are blessing one another and reminding one another that we're grateful for one another. That's critical. And of course, you have a date, so you're spending that one-and-a-half hour time together and reconnoitering together every week. Isn't that incredible? Now all the studies are showing that it is a critical practice.

So don't get lazy on that, young kings. You're all with me? Don't get lazy on that. Your queen needs that time out. Don't get lazy. Even if she said, "Oh baby, we don't need to go out. We've got to save money," you say, "No, I got all the money in the world, baby. We're going out!" You see? You go and do it. You don't make any excuse. She may say, "Oh, it's okay. We got to save money. I don't need to go." It's not true. GO! Go, go, go, go. She's been waiting the whole week. So, you got to go. You got to go do your training. You got to get her out of the house; you got to invest in one another. That's so important. Get your training done; this is pouring into each another.

Over time, this asset will grow; as you invest in this training, that asset will grow. And then your husband-and-wife relationship will become a stronger and stronger asset to both of you, and it will bring more joy to God, more joy to one another, more joy to your community, more joy to your children. You see what I'm saying? But you've got to invest in it; you got to put your time in. Amen! It's so, so, so, so, important.

The K-Team & J-Team: At the Freedom Festival we had the J-team doing the Trump dance song. 227,000 views within a couple of hours. (Applause) 227,000! That was amazing. That was quite amazing. Quite beautiful.
<https://www.facebook.com/N2Sreports/videos/892172452240773/> (News2Share FB Japanese & Korean Choirs)

King Bullethead at the Rod of Iron Festival: And also, we had the King Bullethead raps on Saturday. <https://www.instagram.com/p/CyOYTslA9nu/> The energy was insane in there. Black Rambo was amazing and of course, he wants to come back. He said, "This has been just such an amazing event." He's not used to being around events like this. It had a different spirit. Why? Because the Kingdom culture is there. The Kingdom culture is not just when we're shooting guns and having fun. No, there's a whole Kingdom culture. The Kingdom Constitution is there, the Kingdom culture, the Kingdom theology, it's all there. He said, "I've never been around anything like this," and he is so excited to come back next year. Actually, he's right now writing his bars out so that we'll be producing that song which we aired there. We'll be producing it for a release on YouTube or whatever.

On Mind-and-Body Training

But the point is, the King Bullethead raps, the concert, all this kind of stuff, I did not want to do this, folks. They twisted my arm like crazy; they wanted me to do this. I have not done this in twenty years. I think that also gave me a lot of stress, because twenty years I haven't done this. Why? I used to do the big performances etc., on God's Day for Father in the Hammerstein Ballroom. But I saw two of my brothers get into music too heavy, and what happened? Their lives got wrecked. Their marriages got wrecked, their lives got wrecked, they had girl problems, all this kind of stuff.

Because when you're young, you're not guided and you're into the music as a center, what happens? Since music is very emotional, you get into the whole emotional realm, and that's where Satan comes in, kills you and destroys you. So, I am so grateful that I became a monk, and I started training from there. I threw all that stuff away. I didn't want to do any of that anymore and for the next twenty years I didn't do any of that. Why?

Because music is fun, and I told the youth pastors, "Be careful. DO NOT make music and these kinds of concerts the center of your ministry. Do not do that. Your ministry will be destroyed. It's fun to do it once in a while, but if you base your whole thing on music, guess what? The Devil will start coming in; your teams will start having attack, adultery issues, etc. All this crap will start coming in." You got to be very careful with the music realm. The music realm is a realm which can penetrate into the heart and is emotional. So, I told all the young people to be very cautious of that.

I told all the young people because young people want what? They want to have a good time, they want to party, and they want to do it in the right way. Well, you may start doing it in the right way but if you do it too often now it turns the wrong way, and you start falling, committing adultery. You start ruining and wrecking your life and your future, and those critical assets we were talking about right now with our relationships, you start destroying them.

So, about the desire for young people to want to just choose the easy route and play, play, play, and have fun? No! The key of the Peace Police- Peace Militia is not playing around and doing music concerts. NO! It is TRAINING, mind-and-body training, DISCIPLINE. That's why we are different from every other church on a planet. Why? Because in every other church, look at their marriage retention rate. They all fail; it's the same as the outside world. They're not teaching hard on marriage and on being FAITHFUL and on NOT FORNICATING before marriage. They're not teaching on that. Even though the Bible says that fornicators will not inherit the kingdom of God, they won't teach that because they want to have full stadiums.

What happens then? Then the families suffer. The young kids are fornicating so when they get into marriage, their marriage won't stay together. Why? Because if you have one sexual partner outside of marriage - one- your divorce rate increases exponentially. What is it like? 80%? Just by one sexual partner outside of marriage. That's why the Christian tradition and godly tradition of not having sex before marriage was the standard of all of Christianity before the freakin' modern era when they became fornicators. The Christian center was ALWAYS keeping your virginity. Always! Not fornicating. Fornicating was seen as a sin, and a young person had to keep themselves from that, and not be encouraged to do it. It's ridiculous. This anti-godly culture has destroyed the church in the West; that's why in the Christian churches you have as TERRIBLE stats as in society, the same divorce rates etc. Bad, bad, bad!

The Family and the CIG Culture

In the Cheon Il Guk culture, as people who are blessed under Father's authority, we have a higher marriage retention rate. Why? Because we focus on INVESTING in the marriage. Hello! We focus on investing in the marriage, pouring into it, seeing it as a PRIORITY in our lives, and for that covenant to be successful and to bring joy to God. Amen!

It's an asset; think about it that way. Young people always think about money, money, money, money, money, money, right? This is your big money! This is your big money! Do not let this big money go out. Your marriage is your big money. Young people, don't think about money, money, money, money, money, money. THAT'S your big money. You got to invest in that marriage.

And you have fun. You have fun. That's so important. Have fun. "Oh my gosh. Isn't that terrible? You have to have fun in your marriage? Terrible, terrible, right?" Oh my gosh. This is why investing in your marriage and having the one-on-one gratitude training and date training is so wonderful. But you have to enjoy it. Have fun. Have fun. Have fun pouring into each other. Have fun investing. Have fun romancing your queen. Have fun. Have a great absolute-sex life. All this in marriage, beautiful. The Satanic world can't compete with that.

And be grateful for your children. Young people, you're brainwashed to see children as a liability, "They're going to cost you a million dollars." With one child you just EARNED a billion! They forgot to tell you that; they always want to give you the liability side. You just earned a billion. Your children are a blessing to you; they are an asset to you. They are your TRIBE and you are taught to hate them and see them as a burden? That's wicked demonic brainwashing.

In the Kingdom of God, we don't do that. We invest in our marriages while we're young. See, we're young, we have a strong body and a strong mind – a strong body especially-so we can recover quickly too. We are doing the fighting training, we're doing the shepherd training, and the Bible study; we're doing all that to have strong mind and body.

We're training together as spouses, and since our young queens also train, they're stronger than normal wimpy girls. They're much stronger because they're all martial artists, and since they're STRONG, they recover fast. Oh my gosh! Some of our young queens, they had a baby on Monday. By the following Monday, they were already going out on a date with their husband! Whoo! I said, "Oh my gosh, I can't believe it. Are you kidding me?" They are already going out on a date one week later. Our moms who had baby, maybe when you were thirty, forty, can you imagine that? It's unfathomable. But some of these young queens, their recovery is so fast because they've been training. They're strong comparatively to other girls. It's amazing to see that.

They recover and their babies, they are training also; they are martial artists as well. They're also policewomen and military women. They are training with their children. Their children are not just like this appendage which is always crying and grabbing on them and barfing on them and pooping on them. NO! They see them, "Hey, this is my training partner. We're training together." They go jogging with their kids. They push them in a stroller up hills and they get the leg workout and shoulder work. As they get older, they start doing jiu-jitsu with the kids. You see what I'm saying? They start playing with the kids and developing these incredible avenues of relationship which most parents will never get to experience.

The Kingdom culture is so amazing; it's so incredible. God has given us such an amazing blessing. But it's not going to happen naturally; everybody has 5% responsibility. You've got to invest in it. It's not going to get good and strong without you investing; as with anything else, you've got to INVEST. Everybody, say, "INVEST." (Invest) You got to invest in your marriage.

And when your children get older like around four or five years old, now they're ready for one-on-one day, so you can start doing one-on-one days with each child. One week you take one child out, next week, second child out, third week, third child, fourth week, fourth child, fifth week, fifth child, sixth week, sixth child. You understand what I'm saying? And you are investing in each one of those children personally, in one-on-one relationships which grow over time. You are feeding each tree which is different. One's a peach tree, one's an apricot tree, one's an apple tree, one's a lemon tree, one's a carrot. They're different trees, so you got to feed them differently. In that sense, they have different requirements.

Reduce Sibling Rivalry

When you do the one-on-one day training, you can now focus in on strengthening that child, not comparing that child. Comparing the children is one of the WORST things you can do. Let me tell you something, folks; let me tell you this from our training with our kids. As the daddy, I always try to reduce -always reduce- the natural tendency of sibling rivalry. Siblings will be rivals. Why? Because they all want attention. There are only two parents, so everybody's fighting for the attention of two parents. Therefore, you always have rivalry amongst your children.

Do not do stupid things like pitting your children against each other. You'll be sabotaging those relationships. One of them may do well but not the other one, and you're now killing their relationship with you. You want to decrease the amount of sibling rivalry. Why? Let me tell you something. You may think: "I got this kid who does really well in school. I got that kid who doesn't do well in school. So, I'm just going to compare the one that does well to the other one and say, 'hey, how come you can't do like this, like this, like that?'" Now you may think that's going to work. But instead, it's probably going to drive a wedge between you and that child, because what they will feel is, "My parents just have a performance-based love relationship with me. I have to perform in these ways, then they love me." It's purely based on performance. Trust me. They will not want to be around you as they get older. If you have money, maybe they'll stick around to steal money from you, but that's about it. They're not going to honestly appreciate your presence. So, you don't want to be exacerbating sibling rivalry.

Let me tell you something. Even in raising our boys, there were periods when they didn't do well in school, as in Daddy's case. I was terrible at school until freakin' high school. I had a 1.2 average; I was getting D's and F's. I did not see the value of sitting in the classroom being hammered with these classes all day long. I was uninterested, unmotivated. I wanted to go outside and play and skateboard, and when I was in high school, I wanted to go train.

But you understand, once I decided to do well, - Bam! - I got straight A's. I just had to decide. It wasn't because somebody compared me, or this or that. I decided - Boom! - it happened. There are studies on this. Males tend to have life-transforming shifts that completely alter their level of performance, but they have to have a change in their life. Something big usually happens, and they decide to do well. Our boys too. When they were younger, they had trouble doing well at school? Did Daddy freak out? No, why? I didn't do well in school, so I didn't freak out. I knew that if we encouraged them and they decided, at that moment they would do well.

So, what happened? I didn't play the game of trying to compare them, "Why don't you do well as this, kid? This kid does so much better than you. He does study so much better than you." You see, if you play that game, you're going to scar that relationship. You're playing right into the Devil's tactics. Instead, you can be a little patient and not freak out. Why?

Because no institution is even going to see elementary or middle school results anyway. So why are you all freaking out at first grade Asian moms? I told the Queen, "Don't freak out. It's first grade. No problem. Baby, don't worry. It's first grade." You understand? The Asian moms, the tiger moms, they just focus on the school and having As. But nobody's going to see it; you got plenty of time, plenty of time.

Maybe you're antsy and you want it done NOW because if the kids don't do well then you look bad. Oh, oh! See, many parents' motivation is that, "I'm going to look bad in front of those other moms." That's not for the child then; that's for YOU! Who cares about what those other freaking moms think? Just focus on the relationship; don't hurt that relationship. Don't hurt that relationship; be patient as we did with our kids.

The Queen, as a Korean mom, even testifies that they're trained that way. Her mom did it; they got whooped, they got beaten. If you don't do well in school, you get beaten. The Queen was in a sewing class and in the sewing class also you would get beaten up- in the sewing class. That shows you a little bit how gangster-like Korean culture is. Anyway, that was back then.

The Queen in her testimony said that it was hard because the kids were not doing well at school, and they wanted to play video games. That drives Mom crazy, like insane crazy, insane, insane crazy. I had to call the Queen and say, "Okay, Baby, come on, come on, let's have tea time. Let the kids come home and decompress from school and not feel like the parents are hawking them," or as we call it 'helicopter them'. It's not like they're doing drugs and trafficking children and doing freakin' things like that. I mean, give me a break! They got a C or a D, okay. But we don't freak out. I would tell her, "Hey Baby, I got Fs all the time. I'm double Harvard grad, so don't worry about it. No problem. Don't worry about it. We got time."

Even stuff like that is very important. You want to reduce sibling rivalry, because sibling rivalry can be exacerbated. I've seen parents make their kids fight. I didn't let my kids fight with one another because that also exacerbates sibling rivalry. If they had some rivalry, I didn't let them train together because many times that can get personal. So, they would train with other kids. I didn't push them to be training with each other until they were mature enough to be able to not take things personal and digest it with one another.

Reducing the level of rivalry. Why is that important? Because you're creating an environment where the children want to gather, they value one another; they don't see each other as rivals, so they're not all fighting for parents' attention. Why? Because you are investing in one-on-one day training.

One-on-One Day Training

My first son doesn't have to be jealous of my second son, or my second son jealous of my first son since they both got their days. Which is not their birthday. It's their day; their one-on-one day with Daddy and Mommy. You see what I'm saying? They don't have to fight over attention. In fact, they can celebrate one another on their day.

So, on their day, guess what has happened? After we had McDonald's or whatever, then we'd stop at 7-Eleven or Family Mart etc. They'd buy a little snack for themselves and one for all their siblings; small things. So now when they come home, they're celebrated; none of the other siblings is jealous. They're happy; they're like, "What did you get us, bro? Yeah! He got the Pocky or this chocolate or that chocolate or Cheetos, etc." or whatever it is. So, on their day, each one is actually taking care of their siblings which reduces rivalry even more. Each one of them has their own day which reduces rivalry greatly.

We're so blessed because we did that training. The siblings they still get together and play together until 2 or 3 in the morning. I go outside at 2 in the morning. They're all up in the car and they're playing a board game together. Now! Still, because they see each other as assets, not rivals.

Who creates an environment? The kings will create that environment. So, you as a father, you got to create that environment; you are creating that environment for your kingdom. So, fathers, you've got to be aware of this landscape. You don't have to be perfect; trust me, you don't have to be perfect. But you have to be aware of it in leading your children. It's very important.

On Debriefing Your Team

When we have big groups or events, since they're my children, the kids come under stress. We're a high-profile family, so if we're in the public then people come, "Oh, you're the pastor's sons; oh, you're the Second King's sons. I want to get a picture." This kind of stuff. Sometimes, people even try to give them money and stuff like that, and it's not because they're bad. Did I talk about this to our children? Of course, I did when they were young.

As the leader, I give a debriefing to my team; before we go on a mission, we go on an operation, I give a debriefing. I'm the commander. So, I would get all the family together, and my kids would be middle school, elementary school, whatever. Mommy was there. I'd give a debriefing. "All right, children. All right, kids. Tomorrow, we've got this event. At that event, you may have a lot of people approaching you for pictures and blah blah blah. You may even have people trying to give you money; you don't take any money. If they say 'oh come here,' just run away." When they were young, I would warn them in advance.

What does this require? This requires for the father to be pre-planning. You are the leader, you understand? You have leadership, so you are pre-planning- always. Before the operation or the mission or whatever task you're doing as a team, you have thought through it first. You visualized it, you pre-planned it, and now you are saying, "Okay, these are some of the obstacles we may encounter when we are there as a team. I want everybody to be aware of those things. Don't be surprised. Don't be shocked by it. No need to overreact. Understand that people's intentions are not bad, blah, blah, blah." You understand? So, what do I do? As the commander or as the leader, as the king and the priest, I'm debriefing my team so that everybody can have a better time; nobody is shocked, and everybody is understanding what kind of social dynamics may exist and not take things personally. Amen. You see what I'm saying?

You've got to do this. This is leadership. As your children grow, you've got to provide. If you don't debrief them on anything and you just drag them into something and they get hit, left, right and sideways, they're going to be burned out, they're going to get angry. They're going to be like, "I hate this; I'm not going." This kind of stuff. You've got to get in the habit of debriefing your team. Trust me, they'll really appreciate it.

And since Daddy did that for our kids, when they raise their kids, as they're growing up THEY are doing that to their kids; THEY are in the habit of explaining. They are doing that for their wives. All my sons, they're kings in their home; all those sons, they're acting like kings and priests. Before we go do a big event, they are having a debriefing with their wife and their family and reminding them, "Okay, we're going to have a lot of people there. We're going to have this and that. Everybody's going to want to shake your hand. Everybody's going to want this and that." You're mentally preparing, helping your team prepare.

That's why the king's position is not just a position of authority. You've also got to be developing yourself, practicing these skills, and making them habitual, making them normal. You see? That helps greatly, and it's a lot of fun too. You're one team. People feel cared for. They feel much more cared for when they're being forewarned about a certain situation, than when they know nothing and they are just being dragged into it. "What the heck? Oh, my gosh. What is this?" If that keeps repeating, the kids will get angry. They'll start getting angry at the leadership, at the mom and dad; they'll start getting angry at the people; they'll start getting angry at the event. You know what I'm saying?

So, we got to practice this kind of basic leadership skills too; we got to practice. If we don't do this, if we're not exercising those leadership skills, then the people in our relationships that we're leading such as our wife or our children, they will not feel led. They will feel they've just been dragged along, not led. Are you with me folks? That's why that training is so important, and being aware of your team; not only yourself but being aware of your team. As you enter into different environments or you have different events, you give your queen a debriefing, and you give your children a debriefing as they grow; especially teenagers, you debrief them. And things like that.

Positive vs. Negative Memories

Why would you do such a thing? Because you care about those relationships, and you don't want them to frizzle and fray. You want to remain tight as a unit. That's why you care, and that's why you are mindful of those things and you try to do whatever you can to help your team succeed as a team. But at the same time, you also care for each member of your team individually. That's why we do the individual days, not group days. When you have kids, you have plenty of group days. Trust me, you'll have plenty, plenty of group days; every day is a group day.

But every day is not a one-on-one day, so you've got to pour into the one-on-one training as your kids grow. When they pass four or five years old, you have to start doing your one-on-one days. It's so rewarding, so enriching. What the Queen did was: after each of the one-on-one days with our kids, she wrote a diary for each one. If it was Shin Pal's day, then she had Shin Pal's diary, a special book for Shin Pal, and she would write what happened on that one-on-one day with Shin Pal. When they were young and they brought a four-leaf clover or they brought a little flower, she would put that into the diary and with clear tape she would tape it in. As we were raising them, she had a book for each child with all these small memories. You forget all these memories. And then what happened? On their marriage day when they got blessed, she gave them that book as a marriage gift. How beautiful is that! (Applause) How many kids on the planet have that? That's a very special gift.

It shows that Mommy and Daddy were paying attention while we were raising you. We don't see you just like a plant in a Petri dish or something, and we raise you up and kick you out. We actually care for you, and even though we were busy we put that time and that effort in to create the one-on-one times. But you can't only do the diary and stuff like that; the most important thing is the one-on-one days.

Oh my gosh. The normal family is doing zero every year, zero, zero; they're doing zero one-on-one day with their children. In fact, they're doing one-on-one days, but they're negative. Why? Because when you ask children, "What is some of your memories of your parents," guess what comes up first? "One-on-one days, one-on-one time." Usually it's where you're being reprimanded, being called an idiot, being yelled at for not doing well in school or something stupid like that. "Come here!" And then you're in a room alone and your dad or your mom is yelling at you and telling you whatever.

This becomes a one-on-one. It's negative, and then the Devil comes in and says, "Look, your parents were terrible." The government psychologists come and say, "Look how much pain and trauma your parents have given you. Your parents have traumatized you. And look at all those memories that you have of them criticizing you." Those government psychologists come in and they try to divide the children from you and make them your enemy. So, you have an apparatus and system that is out to make your children an enemy of you. You have to understand that you have enemies that are trying to make your children your enemy. That's why investing in your children is so important.

Because when they try to play that game with your children

"Your parents really traumatized you."

-"No, no, I have great memories of my parents. I'll show you in my diary, with the one-on-one days. Look at that! We went to Red Robin, we went to this and that, we shared all this gratitude."

You see what I'm saying? Their brainwashing system of division doesn't happen. At least it has a lower percentage of happening.

If you don't do that, all the kids remember many times is the negative stuff. Then the government psychologists come in and they're trained in counseling. They're trained to do active listening; they're trained to pretend that they care, but the purpose is to make the listener divulge more of what they want to hear. The whole purpose is for them to get in there and have your children become resentful of you. NOT have your children be resentful of the government's abuse - government of citizens or in the school system. No, none of that. They got to divide the parents from the children. That's Marxism 101. That's how you take control of the next generation of children. You make them hate the parents and you make them pledge allegiance to the state and the ideologies that they're pushing, like currently transgenderism and all this craziness - whatever ideology they're pushing to divide.

You have to understand that you have a whole apparatus trying to divide your children from you. So, it is all the more important that as you're doing your training with your kids, you're doing one-on-one days. You're pouring into them one-on-one. You're building memories with each one of them. You're building the time with each one of them, so when they DO try to come and do the Marxist divide and try to make them resentful towards their parents, "No, no, no, not really. No, my parents weren't perfect, but every month- I have four siblings- so every month I had a date with my parents and for years and decades they poured into me. They took me out to wonderful places and we had great sharing and we had great times and we had a lot of pictures and we did a lot of things together." And they're like, "DANG, dang, dang!" You understand? Why? Because the kids remember the one-on-one time the most.

Evangelical Training & Witnessing Training

When you're training with your kids, understand that you'll have plenty of group time, so focusing on the one-on-one time is so important. The same in our faith life. You're not saved as a group. God came to you individually. God came and convinced you individually. You got that touch from God, not as a group. God came in and penetrated your heart. Same with your kids. When they become teens now the husband is the priest, the wife is the evangelist; you're a ministry team and you have to witness to your child. Not by forcing them to faith, but by talking to them about the faith.

In Asia a lot of parents were saying, "Okay, you're a teen now; you got to go to this camp, that camp. You got to memorize the Divine Principle." And 95% of the time it fails. Why? Because that's not how you witness anybody. You witness people by relationship, showing them that you have God's heart of love towards them and you care for them. And that any of the questions they may have you're going to take seriously and you're going to try to answer to the best of your ability, or at least you'll point them to resources that will help them, and you will be patient. But somehow because they are our children and we have a lot of emotional ties with them...

They listen when they're young until they're like twelve and then all of a sudden in their teens, sometimes they don't want to listen anymore. When that happens, it's usually because the parents have not had a relationship with their children for ten years before that. So, by the time they get to their teens, the children are thinking, "Ah, my parents don't give a crap, anyway." It turns out that way, but it starts like ten years before.

Hopefully you've been building, building, building the relationship, and they're allowed to ask theological questions, and that's fine, and you work through them. And you are not just like, "Oh my gosh, Satan has gotten into you! How dare you ask that question? Satan is in you." Oh my gosh! In Japan and Korea, there are parents like that. There are parents that say, "Satan has gotten into you. How can you not believe in the Divine Principle? Satan is in you!" Oh my gosh. This is not wise. Not wise. You're not putting the relationship in view.

If your kids try to shock you in their teens, "I don't believe in the Divine Principle," well, don't get shocked. The whole world is trying to tell them that. "I don't believe in Jesus." Don't be shocked. You have to kind of expect that they're going to go that way. Why? Because the world is telling them to do that; all the popular kids, everyone, "Just play, play, play; have sex, have sex, have sex; pleasure, pleasure, pleasure; pursue that. Don't do that stupid religious stuff. Don't pursue this kind of traditional medieval traditionalism. Your church and your parents are trying to control you."

This is the stuff that they're brainwashed with. So, don't be surprised when in their teens, they say that they don't believe. Instead, like an evangelist or somebody who's witnessing, you say, "Okay, that's interesting. Well, let's explore. Let's see." And then explore where they're at. Better taking that route, than saying, "Satan has come into you. I'm going to send you now for 120-day camp!" Oh my gosh! Come on; come on! If it was that easy! Come on! Ridiculous! That's not how you would evangelize ANYBODY. You would never evangelize anybody like that, so why do you think it will work with your children? Of course not, it will not work, and of course I know these are exaggerations and hyperbole. But the point is: you have to be wise.

That's why evangelizing is important. You get the practice of actually talking to people and caring about them, and even though they disagree with your faith, you still love them and you still try to talk to them. You practice evangelism before your children are in their teens so you know how to witness to somebody without any anger or emotion. That's why practicing evangelism is important; training in evangelism, talking to people, sharing your faith.

If you met someone on the street and said,

"Reverend Moon is the Messiah. You have to believe it! You have to believe it!" ----

--"Why?"

"I don't know. Just read the Divine Principle, okay? It's all in there."

-- "Bye-bye. Bye-bye. You're crazy."

This is what you can get. This is what you get one hundred times out of one hundred probably. You would not evangelize anybody like that. You would witness them. You would build a relationship. You would pour into them. You would pray for them. You would care for them. And then naturally when faith comes up, you would share it. But you would share it in a way that you feel they can absorb it. You wouldn't get emotional about it; if they resisted it, you wouldn't say, "I'm going to send you to a 40-day workshop." No, of course not. You would never ever, ever do that. But all of a sudden, because it's your child now, you do it. Oh, no, no! That's not how you win your children.

All these things are preparation and training. When we're training and we're trained to be leaders in the home, that's when our faith life matters. Our faith life, our practicing evangelism, practicing sharing of faith, not hiding it; sharing it confidently, but not coercively. Doing all this is practice; you're practicing and when you have children, you'll be more effective. But still, of course, there's no guarantee, right? There's no guarantee because everybody has free will. In the end, they have to decide for themselves; you can't force them. I don't care how many 40-day workshops you send them to; they still have to decide.

But if they feel that their priest and evangelist in the home, which is Mommy and Daddy, care for them; they love them, and they are praying for them, and they are also honest with them, then God can work in those relationships, and miracles can happen. That's why training is important, and before your kids are older, you want to get evangelical training, you want to get witnessing training, you want to get counseling training, you want to develop yourself in these skill sets. Then, as your kids get older, you have those skill sets to lead better. That's why training is very important.

Atomic Habits

I know that young people like doing big celebrations and big music concerts. Once in a while it's fun, but as the Bible says, for the holy army that God has created that's not the center. Music is not the center of it. It is the mind-and-body unity, understanding who God is, understanding relationships, but also applying and training, becoming better, continually improving. That's why I warned the youth pastors, "Don't just do your ministry based on music ministry; you'll have lots and lots of demonic problems." Because it's attractive, "Oh, yeah, I'll have these fun concerts every week." Uh-uh. No, no, no. You're going to have lots of problems.

For Peace Police and Peace Militia and the Kingdom citizens, TRAINING is most important. Mind and body UNITY training. Then once in a while when we gather, celebrate together and have a good time, that's different. Because having fun is not the center. It's mind and body unity, training together and how we apply our faith that is the center of our practice. And with Peace Police and Peace Militia, strong families, strong husband and wife training together, then it becomes strong neighborhood. The culture of training together is natural and encouraging. Everybody is encouraging one another to become stronger; stronger mind and body unity on the individual level, stronger husband-and-wife relationship on the husband-and-wife marriage level, stronger relationship with your children one-on-one time, with your family level. See, that's all connected.

So, it's very, very, important that we focus on Shil Cheon 실전 the Word becoming actualized. It doesn't become actualized by desire alone, just wanting it to happen. No. It gets actualized by what? Training and habit. Making things habitual. That's how you get things actualized; being consistent over time, and making them habitual. By training, training. That's how you make things habitual, whether it is shooting guns, doing martial arts training, boxing, or whatever it is; you get higher level at making things habitual by doing training.

The Queen was telling me the other day about a famous athlete, who said, "I never realized that being an Olympian wrestler, it's not just about how many titles he's won. The real champion is somebody who embraces the daily monotonous hard work grinding of the training room or the dojo." That's the person who becomes the best; embracing the hard and monotonous and painful training room. This comes out of a book called Atomic Habits. <https://jamesclear.com/atomic-habits> The training room of the daily training, which is boring and not glamorous, that's the place to actually build a champion.

This is true not only in the sports realm, in the physical realm, but in our relational realm too. This is our critical asset, and we have to also pour into the training room.

The training room is really where the champion is built.

The unglamorous, daily discipline of the mind-and-body training.

This is where the habit is made.

This is where the techniques are perfected.

This is where we apply the Word better.

This is where we improve.

That's where the champion is built. Not on the championship day. It's built in the dojo, sweaty, bloody; that's where it's built.

That's why training is so important to our young people. The training lifestyle is fun; it keeps you fit, keeps you healthy, keeps you working continuously to try to actualize the Word. Even though you know you're not saved by that; you're saved by grace, not by your works. You're not saved BECAUSE you're trying. No! You're saved by God's grace; not because you're great or because of anything you've done; it's by God's grace. But after becoming God's child, now we want to make God happy and that's why we train. We want to actualize His Will better. We train to we make Him happy, to make Him proud as a Father. And that's a big deal. Amen!

Acts chapter 8

Persecution of the Church

Did we get into our scripture today? Oh my gosh. Oh my gosh. Let's get to Acts chapter 8 really quick. We saw so many beautiful young couples. Let's give it up for our young couples that got blessed yesterday. Let's give them a big round of applause, everybody. (Applause)

This is chapter 8, "Persecution of the Church". We'll just read a couple of sections here.

1 And Saul was consenting unto his death. And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judaea and Samaria, except the apostles.

2 And devout men carried Stephen to his burial,...

Stephen got killed while evangelizing

3 As for Saul, - who later on became Paul- he made havock of the church, entering into every house, and haling men and women committed them to prison.

He was assaulting all these Christians. He was killing them. He was also going into their houses of worship, and he was creating havoc. He was physically yanking them and throwing them in prison. He was assaulting Christians like insane. This man was an assaulter. He was kicking in doors; the guy was a freaking Fed; He was a deep state operative. He was an evil, evil, evil, wicked man.

⁴ Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word.

⁵ Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

⁶ And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

⁷ For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed.

⁸ And there was great joy in that city.

Now with Philip, the evangelist here; he was one of the seven anointed in Acts chapter 6 to distribute food to the poor and by doing so spreading the Gospel. Philip is now preaching in Samaria and different areas and he's doing miracles.

⁹ But there was a certain man, called Simon, which beforetime in the same city used sorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one:

Let's jump down to verse 13.

¹³ Then Simon himself believed also: ...

Simon, this sorcerer, he's into witchcraft. He pretends to do miracles too, but it has no salvific power. He eventually ends up being saved by the evangelist Philip and believing on Jesus Christ. So, Philip is starting to witness even these warlocks and witchcraft people.

We see this today like that famous tattoo girl.

<https://www.foxnews.com/entertainment/blac-chyna-removes-demonic-tattoo-regains-faith> She got baptized; she is a Christian. She was into a cult, witchcraft, all that; she burned all her witchcraft, threw it all away. And now she has accepted the Lord Jesus Christ in her life and has been baptized by the Holy Spirit. Praise God everybody! Let's give God some praise! (Applause) You see that kind of move happening.

²⁷ And he arose and went: and, behold, a man of Ethiopia, an eunuch, an eunuch of great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who had the charge of all her treasure, and had come to Jerusalem for to worship

This man from Ethiopia is a eunuch. In the ancient world, those who worked in the palace around the kings and queens, they had to chop their genitals off so they could not have relationships with the queen or the princesses, etc.

²⁸ Was returning, and sitting in his chariot read Esaias the prophet

³⁰ And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Esaias, and said, Understandest thou what thou readest?

But he couldn't understand what it meant, so Philip ran up to him.

³⁵ Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.

37 And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

38 And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him.

You can see that there's a move of the Holy Spirit in the time of great persecution.

That's why people who are in Christ, we must not have the spirit of fear when we are persecuted; we must not have the spirit of fear. I know it's scary when you have the whole apparatus of government or power, etc., coming after you and scaring the patriots and all this kind of stuff. But as 2. Timothy said, "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind." We are not to be ruled by the spirit of fear. We have to ask God for a supernatural COURAGE at this critical time

Because the time of persecution is what? It's a time when so many miracles happen. People wake up; they give their life to Jesus; they give their life to Christ BECAUSE they see the world falling apart. It becomes a time of GREAT evangelism when the world is falling apart, as it is now by the way.

In the Middle East

You see what's happening in the Middle East now? When we went to Japan and Korea and did the tour, what did we say? We told you that because of the curse of Han Hakja, the Harlot of Babylon, it would only get worse. That's Ukraine and Russia exploding, and now the Middle East and Israel EXPLODING and cascading us further into World War III, so they can block Trump from even having a dang election because we're tied up now in the Middle East. And these crazy neocons want to bomb Iran and have more wars where young people get killed and flag-draped corpses come back in body bags.

Meanwhile their kids won't go fight on that dang frontline and they'll get rich off of it. This is why Father was against the Iraq war; he was against it. He called Bush the king of Satan's world. Father called Bush Satan to his face because he did not want the Middle East crisis to be exacerbated.

You have a situation where in Israel, you saw in the last couple of days, the Hamas terrorists parachuting down with freakin' big propellers on their back; they attached a leaf-blower to their back, and they were flying down. This is a country around the size of New Jersey which even a daring missile flying at three hundred miles an hour can't enter. It's called the Iron Dome system. A missile moving at three hundred or five hundred miles an hour cannot enter this Iron Dome, yet you're telling me that fifty slow-moving parachuters with a leaf-blower on their back somehow got through unseen? Are you kidding me? Are you kidding me? That's why according to polls, ninety percent of people in Israel believe the government already knew this was going to happen. And isn't it interesting that Congress was buying war bonds and war stocks right before this happened, and they could make a lot of money. <https://100percentfedup.com/report-congress-members-make-strategic-war-stock-moves-before-israel-hamas-conflict/> Isn't that interesting? So, more stuff coming out.

But before we start another giant war in the Middle East, hello, just two weeks ago, weren't we funding $300 billion for Ukraine and starting World War III with Russia? Now all of a sudden, everybody forgot about Ukraine. Now we've got to start another big war in the Middle East. Okay, great idea. Huh? Are you kidding me, folks?

Now, obviously Hamas was coming in and killing the civilians at a rave, which they had moved two days before; they moved the rave to be closer to Gaza. And, by the way, Israel is 98% disarmed. Did you know that? You have no Second Amendment in Israel. Even though now they're trying to arm all their citizens, it doesn't have a culture of guns. And even though everybody goes to IDF and goes to the military, you're not able to have a gun. Actually, Israel has a very leftist government; very, very leftist.

Imagine at a concert like that you got fifty parachuters coming down with a leaf-blower on their back; imagine if you did that at an American hillbilly rave. You'd have revolvers coming out; you'd have shotguns coming out; you'd have ARs coming out of the trucks; you'd have pistols coming out of the belts. And they're slow-moving parachutes; they're just parachuting in. Okay, a missile can't even come into the Iron Dome, but you're telling me that fifty- fifty- not even one; there were like fifty of them all moving slowly like this. And apparently this was so advanced that the most state-of-the-art defense Iron Dome system could not pick it up; because it was so advanced. (Laughing) Are you kidding me? Give me a break.

They did commit acts of terror. They did go hunt children. They did kill babies They went house-to-house killing people. All the Israelis could do was lock their doors. Why? Because when those Hamas and terrorists come in, you can't shoot back; you don't have any gun. If you try that in any town in America that's somewhat conservative, every house will have a gun pointed right at you, and you will be seeing gunfire come back at you. You see the difference of culture? Totally different. Hamas is not going to be running around U.S. neighborhoods trying to do that for long. You're going to receive gunfire three hundred and sixty degrees.

So, before we jump into World War III with another escalation in the Middle East and start another giant war with Iran, hey, maybe it's good to ask the question, "How did the parachutes get through the Iron Dome system?" Please answer that before we go bomb six million people and kill everybody. Maybe that's a good question we should be asking before we bomb and murder and genocide millions of people. Huh? What do you think, folks? Huh? Maybe we should ask a question like that, huh? "How did those slow-moving parachutes come into the Iron Dome and were not caught?" I mean you all can shoot down missiles, can't you? You say that you can shoot down missiles, but you can't stop a fifty-parachute team that is coming down very slowly. Oh, come on!

Let's answer that question first, huh? Please, let's answer that before we start a nuclear war with Iran. They're now bombing Gaza. You're going to kill what? Two million people there and then? You're going to wipe out two million people? Okay, what they did was terrible, but you want to now go in and kill two million people? And then you want to go to Iran with six million people and capture their major oil fields? That kind of looks similar to what they did in Iraq with Dick Cheney going to Halliburton and making money of that oil, doesn't it? We've been around this rodeo a couple of times now.

AND we are a dying country, AND we are in debt, AND we are overextended, AND we are already in a freakin' war with Russia! Hello! Now you want to go into two more wars in the Middle East, and then you want China to take Taiwan, and North Korea to take South Korea and Japan! Oh my gosh! How are the U.S. going to fight all those wars when we're $33 trillion in debt? <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> Folks, these people are insane. They are insane.

And of course, they make lots of money off the wars. Hey, why don't we try to make peace deals as Trump was doing, huh? Trump has zero wars and ninety-one indictments. You combine Clinton to Obama; you got like twenty freakin' wars and you got zero indictments. You got Trump with ZERO war- ZERO, zero, war because he was a good gangster, and you got ninety-one indictments. They don't like it if you want to stop the wars because they're not making any money.

On the Providence & US Presidents

Patrick Bet-David was saying that you have two types of presidents: one is a gangster, and the other is controlled by gangsters. That's it. That's the only ones you got; you got two types. Either you're a gangster or you're controlled by gangsters. Obama, Clinton, Biden, they were controlled by gangsters. Trump was in there and he was a tough commander-in-chief. He's a tough guy. Trump was in an interview and he said, "I sent Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi a picture of his house. I think he got the message." <https://nypost.com/2022/09/23/trump-says-he-threatened-to-obliterate-taliban-leader/> He was a tough, scary commander. The nations didn't mess with America at the time, because they knew that man was going to blow you up if you messed around. He wasn't going to be tiptoeing; he wasn't going to be trying to be politically correct. He was going to come after you HARD.

All right, so during president Trump, we got zero wars. By the way it was the first time in the last half century that we had a president that delivered zero wars. Why is he not celebrated? Why is he not given the Nobel Peace Prize for that? Huh? He made zero wars. And whether you like Trump or not, right now our country is in a state where its destiny and that of the world are tied to this man. We are the superpower, and the superpower has an apparatus that can destroy Trump, the number one opposition party running candidate and former president. And if the apparatus can crush his business holdings, throw him in prison and destroy him, it can do that to anybody. The whole world is screwed; we're under complete tyranny.

Three times in American history the destiny of the country was tied to one man.

*The first time was George Washington. He was a general and he had to win. If he didn't win, U.S. destiny was screwed. So, it was tied to George Washington.

The second time was Abe Lincoln. If we didn't win the Civil War, the U.S. would split. So, the destiny was tied to Abe Lincoln's success.

Now we're in a phase when it's tied to Trump. If Trump does not win and he's politically destroyed, put in prison under trumped-up charges with business holdings all destroyed, the whole world is under tyranny. You see how that works? It's tied to this man.

We know Providence works that way; it has central figures on micro and macro levels. Only the Divine Principle can explain it; we have such a comprehensive systematic theology that allows us to interpret current events, providential history, plus world history. That's what I was explaining to the journalists when they came. I had six different interviews during the festival with all the other crazy schedules we had. That's what I was trying to explain to them. We have the most comprehensive systematic theology, recognized by scholars, on how to analyze providential history, biblical history and world history, and understand all the lenses of society, the political, the economic, the religious dimensions in all major civilizational changes.

Since America is the superpower, we're in that phase when the world destiny is tied to this man. That's why it's such a crazy time in history, folks. And that's why we have to have President Trump win. The deep state and the bureaucracy of the demonic, wicked, fascist Left and the neocon Right, which is part of them, the Uniparty fake Republicans that love war, and love war mongering rule D.C. If those people can destroy the main opposition party leader who is the former president and the main head runner against the current, and they can stop him from running, they can take him off the ballots, they can freakin' destroy his holdings and dissolve his companies, oh my gosh, everybody's screwed. They're coming; everyone else is now next.

That's why America's got to win. We've got to win in 2024 with a landslide so we can defeat their cheating and mail-in ballots. They know they can't do the corona craziness again because everybody woke up. Even the lunatic lefties who were saying "Get the vax, get the vax," even those crazies woke up after most of their friends have died off or got tremendously sick. They learned a big lesson. Even those brainwashed lefties, government worshiping cult lefties, THEY are now waking up. So, they can't even do the corona craziness again; they can't shoot the corona lockdowns again successfully or people would get really upset about that.

Han Hakja's Curse

So now what are they doing? They're starting wars. We have more escalation in the Middle East, and we still have Ukraine. The West has lost the Ukraine war. Russia is now supplying all of its military ammunitions, artillery and drones; producing them in Russia and bringing them to the front lines. While we have to outsource our stuff from China and freakin' other countries and microchips from Taiwan, Russia's all internal now.

Kook J-Hyung was talking about their economy; that it is now a wartime economy and they're operating successfully as a wartime economy. Their military got stronger, we lost the freakin' Ukrainian war, and now we're in open conflict with Russia. Meanwhile the Middle East is blowing up. Now they're calling for war with Iran; they want to blow up the Gaza strip AND now Iran which has nuclear power.

At the same time, you got Taiwan sitting out there completely vulnerable which produces ninety percent of the world's what? Microchips which are in every appliance from cars to freezers to microwaves to refrigerators to handphones. All our electric systems, all our modern-day living is tied to microchips, folks. And if China takes that, now we have to go to war in the East with China while we're fighting Russia AND the Middle East? No way. But of course, that's what they want; they want that. That's how you kill and destroy a country and then they can enact emergency powers and say that there's no election because we're in World War III, everybody. Congratulations!

Thank you, Han Hakja, the Harlot of Babylon, for the CURSE after betraying the Lord. It's what we told her ten years ago. We told her there was going to be a worldwide judgment. She laughed at it because she stole the billions and walked the path of terrible dishonor and selfishness. Kicking out her only sons who tried to stop her and tell the truth, and all the sycophants and those who wanted to steal money stuck with her and they've now destroyed that whole foundation. PLUS, they've been judged by Father and his hand from Heaven; he's exploded their organization.

BUT at the same time with the micro and macro the whole freakin' world is blown up. So, thank you very much Harlot of Babylon for betraying the Lord. See, microcosm always lead macro; microcosm always has repercussions on the macro. We learned that through the Principle. We see it all throughout history; the failures on the micro lead to failures on the macro. That's straight out of the Principle, and we see that it's happening worldwide.

Be Encouraged

BUT we still have 5% though, and by the way, as it gets worse, more people wake up. That's one good news; that's one hopeful thing. As it gets worse, more people wake up. What's the point of that? The more people wake up, the more people can start saying, "NO! We're not going to support another war in the Middle East. We're not going to support more wars with China. We're not going to support any of it, and we're not sending our children." Now because of social media people can start saying, "NO! Stop these crazy wars and getting our kids and grandkids KILLED while you make MONEY." You see? People can start saying, "NO!"

That's why it's important to wake people up. That's why it's important to share these sermons, share this information, talk to people, meet people, evangelize and talk. Because if people don't wake up now, this world doesn't have a lot of time, folks. 2024 is it. That's the crux. What's happening with Trump is now going to be what happens to everybody who is a patriot and who wants to stand for freedom.

So, please pray for this country. We got to pray that the entire world freedom movement comes back to Christ, stands against evil and has supernatural bravery. That's so important. But BE ENCOURAGED because as we saw in chapter 8 at the time of persecution, miracles start happening, hearts start being changed, people start being woken up. Amen! So, we got to remain strong at this critical time.

Let's pray!

Pastor Sean's Reporting Prayer

Father God, we thank You for this beautiful day. We thank You for all the things that are happening in the world. Terrible tragic devastating things are now happening, escalations of war and rumors of wars, but Father, we know that You are still on the throne of God.

And that at this crazy time, MORE people can be woken up, MORE people can be alerted, MORE people can be awakened out of their slumber and be encouraged and be energized to stand in this critical battle for human liberty and Your gifts of freedom and human rights.

Father God, we thank You because at this critical time of persecution, miracles can pour out; things that we thought were impossible can start becoming possible. The move of Your Holy Spirit becomes more apparent and the hardened hearts begin to soften as they see that all their confidence in the world is failing as the world itself fails. And all those people who banked on it and had confidence in this modern world and who thought it would last forever, they see it collapsing before their eyes.

People start realizing that, "
Oh, we are not so great.
Oh, we are full of sin.
Oh, we need to repent.
We need to come back to the one True God.
We need to come back to the CREATOR.
We need to repent of our sins.
We need to get back to Jesus.
We need to get back to God.
We need to get back to that sacrificial shepherding spirit.
We have to be able to become brave again to stand against this wickedness and evil."

Father, we are grateful because we had victory in the Rod of Iron Freedom Festival. We thank You for all the people that came there. Please MULTIPLY their influence so that what they are speaking about will be heard by more and more people in this critical time in history.

We pray for the whole world to stand strong with a supernatural courage at this time, so we can stop and resist those demonic powers that are trying to start World War III and destroy our world and civilizations as we know it.

Let us remain vigilant and strong at this time and no matter what comes before us, let us not face it with the spirit of fear and trepidation but of COURAGE and LOVE for Your Kingdom.

Dear Father, we thank You for all the things that You are doing. Please BLESS and strengthen everyone that is here and all those that are gathered and listening and all those whose rings of influence may spread out further to touch the ones who are still not awakened from their slumber. Let them be awakened NOW in Your precious name and return back to Your light in this age of darkness.

We are standing with You. We are grateful for You. We know that we are not alone and we know that Your Kingdom is coming as the collapse of the Satanic world ensues. Let us be brave during this time.

With all the kingship lines gathered here we give You praise, and with the Three Generation Kingship we pray. Amen! Amen! And aju!

All right folks, that's all rise and give God the praise! Hallelujah! (Applause)
