God created everything and therefore God is the owner of everything and nothing belongs to us, no matter, no heritage, no title, no person, no animal, even when we eat the food is not ours, it has to go out, even the air we breathe has to release, even the body does not belong to us, and whoever tries to possess something, will suffer from attachment, because that is one of the laws.

Social injustices are caused by ourselves, which through ignorance, attachment, the Ego, we try to be superior, we want to have and be more than the other, and with that we cause imbalance in society.

Only by doing individual experiences will we be able to evolve our being, this will be the only baggage that we will take to eternal life, it is just meritocracy, the more we strive for the growth of love, the more our worldview changes, the more beautiful the life stays, with more love, joy, lightness and peace, this is the true kingdom of God, it is within us and anyone can achieve it by true merit, there is no way to cut the path, there is no way to circumvent the law, there is no like owning anything and everyone has the same chances.

There is no competition with each other in the world of true love, because the only competition is you against yourself, if a person has evolved and reached the kingdom first than you, it does not make any difference, in fact the one who reaches is willing to help each other to enter the kingdom, because the grace of life is affection, we can fly alone, but when we fly together it is much more fun.
