FFWPU-Cambodia, in collaboration with YSP-Cambodia and HTG Missionaries from Japan, successfully hosted a 2-day youth workshop titled "Learn Today, Lead Tomorrow" on May 10-11, 2025, at the FFWPU-Cambodia headquarters. This event provided a valuable platform for young participants to deepen their understanding of the Divine Principle, the foundation of our teachings from True Parents.

The program commenced with an inspiring opening address by Mr. San Chenda, Vice President and Representative President of FFWPU-Cambodia. He emphasized self-development and leadership, encouraging participants to not only learn but also apply their newfound knowledge in daily life.

Guided by a well-structured schedule, participants explored core chapters of the Divine Principle:

The Principle of Creation

The Principle of the Human Fall

The Principle of Restoration

The Blessing

Dedicated lecturers delivered these teachings with sincerity, focusing on the words of True Parents and Heavenly Parent. Participants engaged actively in every session, feeling the sincerity and heart behind the lessons.

The workshop was also vibrant with interactive activities, including dancing, singing, group games, and Hoon Dok Hae reading sessions. These moments fostered camaraderie and reflection, allowing participants to contemplate their purpose and potential.

Participants expressed gratitude for the enriching experience, sharing that they had never encountered such a warm and inspiring community. They recognized that through these teachings, humanity can transcend divisions - be they personal, family, national, racial, or religious - and live in peace and harmony.

The event inspired youth to embrace new challenges and pursue goals with a higher purpose, guided by True Parents and Heavenly Parent. All attendees committed to participating in future events and inviting friends and relatives to join.

This workshop exemplifies the transformative power of education, heart, and community in nurturing the next generation of leaders.
