

Sunday Service with Michael and Fumiko Balcomb

Frankfurt, Germany, October 1, 2017

On 1 October, Michael & Fumiko Balcomb gave their first Sunday service in Germany to the Frankfurt community. Already on the previous day, some of the Frankfurt community had heard Michael's inspiring talk at the city leaders meeting in Giessen, and were curious as to what topic he would chose on Sunday. The message that he delivered with great enthusiasm and authenticity, was „Send Me“.

Before he started, he asked us to rearrange the chairs in a semi-circle, near the pulpit, without an aisle in the middle and with no empty seats in the first row.

Fumiko briefly introduced herself and Michael, following which Dr. Balcomb reported from his own personal experiences:

that the people whom God calls are anything but perfect;

that God can only carry out his 95% when we completely fulfill our 5%;

that things fundamentally change when the false start made by mankind is replaced by the correct one - that is through the blessing of marriage;

that True Mother wants to keep this awareness in us alive and never to lose hope that we can do it;

and that God is calling each one of us. Therefore, we must pay attention and be ready to follow the call.

After his sermon, Michael asked each member of the congregation to hold a five-minute conversation with his neighbor about when God had last called him.

We ended the service with our monthly birthday celebration. The newly sixty-year old Giuseppe was presented with a large bunch of flowers.
