More than ever before, ethnic groups, women, religious minorities, facing discrimination, are standing up for their rights. Everyone wishes to find their place in society, be included, and live a dignified and peaceful life. However, how can we create harmony between people in this world of cultural, ethnic, linguistic, religious diversity? Shouldn't we perhaps compile these under the concept of 'Human Diversity', as each and every human being is unique? And is the 'Culture of Heart' the answer to conflict?

Background & purpose:
More than ever before, ethnic groups, women, religious minorities, facing discrimination, are standing up for their rights. Everyone wishes to find their place in society, be included, and live a dignified and peaceful life. However, how can we create harmony between people in this world of cultural, ethnic, linguistic, religious diversity? Shouldn't we perhaps compile these under the concept of 'Human Diversity', as each and every human being is unique? And is the ´Culture of Heart' the answer to conflict? ❤⬚
To address these questions, IAYSP-Switzerland has invited two guest speakers who will share their expertise on the topic:
