High Noon Europe Expands Its Mission in 2024: Empowering Families and Individuals with Integrity

High Noon's Europe Chapter made remarkable strides in 2024, fostering spiritual growth, promoting sexual integrity, and hosting transformative workshops across multiple European countries.

In 2024, the High Noon Europe Chapter marked a year of significant growth and meaningful engagement throughout the EUME region. Under the leadership of Andranik K., the organisation continued its mission to promote sexual integrity, empower families, and help individuals lead lives without shadows. With a focus on education and personal transformation, the chapter connected with diverse communities across Europe through workshops, online programmes, and innovative initiatives.

Expanding In-Person Events

The chapter hosted a series of impactful events in various European countries, including workshops in Minsk, Warsaw, Budapest, and London. These gatherings provided spaces for participants to explore personal growth, strengthen their values, and build a deeper connection with God and others. The events focused on essential virtues such as courage, honesty, grace, accountability, and integrity.

Participants shared heartfelt testimonies about the impact of these workshops. One participant remarked, "High Noon helped me reconnect to my original self, which had been covered by a blanket of shame. The workshop provided hope and encouragement for growth."

Online Programmes for Continued Engagement

High Noon also leveraged digital platforms to expand its reach. Key programmes included Ascend, Core, and Radiant, which offered participants weekly group calls, one-on-one mentoring, and accountability check-ins. These programmes aimed to help individuals overcome harmful sexual habits, prepare for marriage, and nurture intimacy in relationships.

The Ascend programme, in particular, saw 59 European participants, with transformative results for many struggling with pornography and self-image issues. One participant shared, "Through High Noon, I realised that purity is not something you lose but something you can nourish. I felt God's love when I opened my heart."

The Europe Chapter welcomed 3 volunteers in 2024: David and Sandra in January, and Julia in October. As a team, they have been actively organizing workshops and events across various European countries, focusing on educating participants about maintaining a high standard of sexual integrity, preparing for marriage, and creating the space to experience life without shadows, through the practice of 5 High Noon virtues: courage, honesty, grace, accountability and integrity.

School of Love and Parent Support

A key focus in 2024 was empowering parents to have meaningful conversations with their children about love, intimacy, and sexuality. The School of Love offered boot camps and webinars, equipping parents with the tools to navigate these often-uncomfortable topics.

The programme emphasised building strong connections with children and using everyday conversations to instill positive values. One participant reflected, "The boot camp motivated me to step out of my comfort zone and have more intentional conversations with my daughter and husband."

Vision for the Future

Looking ahead, the Europe Chapter plans to continue its momentum by hosting the High Noon Summit in Prague in 2025. The event aims to bring together like-minded individuals for workshops, discussions, and networking opportunities to further the mission of creating lives free from shadows.

High Noon's efforts in 2024 underscored the importance of deep connections - both spiritual and personal - as the foundation for emotional and physical well-being. By fostering a supportive community and promoting openness, the organization is helping countless individuals and families experience lasting transformation across Europe.

High Noon Summit 2025

Our first full year as a chapter has been truly special. This year our team set out for ambitious goals month after month, which has led us on a remarkable journey of meeting many members and communities across the region, fostering new friendships and deep connections with brothers and sisters. I am beyond grateful to the talented and persistent Europe Chapter team, and to all volunteers, community leaders and friends without whom our work would not be possible.

2024 engraved in me a very valuable lesson - connection is the only true cure to addiction. Deep connection to God, self, and others is the foundation of spiritual, emotional and physical health. Attempts to substitute this connection with “cheap” alternatives will inevitably compromise our integrity to the values we strive to promote.

Helping to build this empowering connection all around the EUME region has been our driving force as a team. We believe that there should not be a single corner of the continent where God’s love does not reach. As we continue our quest, we invite you to look back on the past year of our journey.

TRUE PARENTS' VISION

“High noon settlement is possible when there is no shadow. When the mind and body become one, the shadow disappears. When a couple becomes one, the shadow disappears. Thus, you should each become a mother or father, husband or wife, and son or daughter who can find high noon settlement.”

— Rev. Sun Myung Moon

TESTIMONIES

FROM OUR WORKSHOP PARTICIPANTS

“I got back in touch with myself. Sometimes I forget who I am and don’t put enough effort in understanding my actions and feelings. [...] High Noon helped me in reconnecting to my original self that has always been there, but for a time like covered with a blanket so that it was less visible.”

“It made me realize that through living a life without shadows, we can resemble True Parents. Answering the many profound questions posed during the workshop was by no means easy, but as I shared with brothers and sisters, I felt a deep sense of joy in my conscience.”

“It always feels like a familiar place, we’re all brothers and sisters trying to improve ourselves and live for the sake of others. In this short workshop, shame was put aside and I loved the positive vision they gave us; everything was full of hope and based on growth.”

“It was an interesting workshop, very different from the ones I’ve been to before. The lectures, which I had never heard before, were short but informative and I liked that we had more time than usually to discuss in groups. This way, I felt as if we were the “lecturers”, in the sense that everyone could receive something precious, a lesson from the others. It was comforting to know and understand that I am not alone in my struggles, that many other 2nd Gen have the same difficulties as I do. Talking with them made me feel more close to them, even though it’s been only a day since we met.”

Finding Hope through High Noon

"I started to have problems with pornography when I was 15 years old. Porn caused a lot of issues in my life, but the biggest problem for me was the fact I couldn't talk and pray to God honestly. Every time I would pray or read True Parents' words, I felt ashamed. This problem also blocked me from being honest with my parents, siblings, and friends at church. Over time I started to feel that I was alone, that I was different from other second generation, and that I didn't want to be in the church anymore.

However, through High Noon, I learned that purity is not something that you lose but something I could nourish, and I determined to start by confessing to my parents. Through the conversation with my parents, I could feel God's love. I realized that God wanted to help me, but I wasn't opening my heart to Him. After that, the first change that I experienced was that I could pray to God honestly, and my relationship with my parents and siblings became closer."

"In the middle of February I started to work for School of Love. I didn't have any experience to work from, just simply my love for family and being a mom. I dived into topics that used to make me squirm, like talking about sex, pornography, and the countless questions that come along with that. Since then taking on this mission has truly blessed myself and my family. I recognized the importance of our role as parents to support our children in learning about all things to do with sex, especially so they can learn God's original plan. Now I'm excited to have these conversations with my kids, grateful for their questions, and so happy to share this culture with other parents."

Amelia was joined by a Christian sexologist, Patricia Weerakoon, who shared some great knowledge on how important these conversations with our kids are, as well as how these conversations should start much earlier than you think.

Phillip Schanker, a therapist who's well-experienced in our movement's mission work, shared valuable insight on healing our own trauma, which is also essential in our parenting journey.

Chris McKenna, founder of Protect Young Eyes, shared his vision in guiding our kids in using technology safely in our podcast interview.

Amelia also got to share some valuable episodes with the HN staff: David & Mitsue Wolfenberger, Andrew, Benjy and Andranik.

Finding Hope through the SOL Bootcamp

"As a father of 2 and 4 year old children, I was shocked that children are exposed to the topic of sex at such a young age. Not only from the media, but also from kindergarten and their peers. I was looking for guidance on how to talk to them about sex. I was very uncomfortable and did not know how to approach it. Thank God I was introduced to the SOL program.

We had regular weekly meetings with deep sharings, goals and actionable steps that kept me on track. I soon realized that I first had to work on myself and the way I interact with my children. In order to talk to them comfortably about sex, I had to learn to listen to them first, build a strong bond and be a better example of being honest with myself. In the SOL program we learned new methods & concepts of thinking, like having a hundred one-minute conversations rather than one big one, which helped me to be free to talk to my children about anything and to understand their needs better. I realized that it's a great opportunity to improve my relationship with them and I was able to start a new chapter of my life without this fear."

Filip Simonyi

"I decided to sign up with the aim of getting tools to know how to talk about sex, but I realized through all the sessions that it is much deeper, it is creating the foundations for a healthy relationship with our children, with ourselves, learning to give voice for our children and create emotion and connection with them. Creating space to talk about everything, without shame, even talking about sex as something that connects us with God in a magnificent way."

Carla Vieira

"The part of the bootcamp that really inspired me to take action was the focus on getting comfortable with uncomfortable conversations. Learning how important it is to communicate openly with my family—especially about difficult topics—was a game-changer. The practical steps we practiced, like creating a connection routine and having open discussions, pushed me to start having more intentional conversations with my daughter and husband. It motivated me to step out of my comfort zone and create a more open and trusting environment at home."
