A most relevant and exciting discussion and dialogue
About North and South Korea and the possibilities for Reunification

Friday, November 20, 2020
10 AM (New York Time)

Theme: The situation between North and South Korea directly involves Russia, the United States, China and Japan and due to the tensions and prospects for conflict the situation is one that concerns the whole world. 2020 marks the 70th anniversary of the outbreak of the Korean War, which destroyed the lives and destinies of many people. After 70 years is there a possibility of a new Korean miracle – the unification of Korea into a single state – in the near future? 2020 was a year of dramatic shocks for all of humanity, as evidenced not only by the COVID-19 pandemic, but also by the huge changes that are taking place in the fields of geopolitics, the world economy, education, media, religion and culture, at all levels of society, including families, communities, cities and countries. Has 2020 brought the prospect of peace on the Korean Peninsula closer together or further away?

Highly respected experts from Russia and the United States will present their views and discuss the possibilities followed by questions and answers.

Mr. Harry Kazianis
Senior Director of Korean Studies
Center for the National Interest

Dr. Vladimir Petrovsky
Professor, Faculty of World Economy and International Affairs, Higher School of Economics.
