Our panel of the world's leading experts on North Korea will examine the glaring impasse in the DPRK-US relations emerging in the wake of the US-ROK joint military exercises, the botched US withdrawal from Afghanistan, Pyongyang's apparent resumption of the operation of the nuclear reactor at Yongbyon and demonstrated reluctance to accept vaccine assistance amidst the worsening wave of Delta COVID hitting the Peninsula – all on the doorstep of South Korea's presidential elections. We'll look at what Washington and its allies need to do to get the ball rolling again and jump-start international negotiations on nuclear issues and humanitarian concerns, including human rights, with North Korea.

This month, we are joined by guest panelist Amb. Robert R. King, former Special Envoy for North Korean Human Rights Issues at the Department of State (2009-17).

This forum will be held on September 7, 2021 at 2 PM EDT, livestreamed right here on washingtonbrief.org. Register at: <https://washingtonbrief.org/>

About the Washington Brief

As our diplomacy with Pyongyang proceeds in fits and starts, the international community faces many risks and opportunities in the pursuit of the peaceful resolution of numerous hot button issues with the DPRK and deeply entrenched inter-Korean conflict. For the U.S. and the world, these include nuclear weapons and human rights. For North Korea, these are regime survival, national security, and economic modernization. Korean reunification is the big issue that sits in the back of everyone's mind.

We invite you to join a stimulating discussion among the most informed thinkers on Northeast Asia and the Korean Peninsula.

The Washington Brief is a project of the Washington Times Foundation.
