Dear

We welcome you to join our meeting tomorrow Tuesday (Feb 13), co-hosted with the HJ International Graduate School of Peace and Public Leadership (HJI). Our speaker will be Dr.

Thomas Walsh, President of HJI.

This session is being presented in the context of the Higher Purpose Forum series on “Economic Democracy”, led by Alan Jessen. Alan led two sessions on Economic Democracy during 2023. This topic will be featured at the HJI Conference on Peace & Public Leadership on April 11 to 13.

“Justice” is often used as a term with gravitas. However, its meaning is not always well understood or agreed upon. Philosophers from Aristotle to John Rawls have sought to clarify the meaning of justice as a basis for building a good or just society. Still, concepts such as “economic justice” or “social justice” remain highly complex and, therefore, topics of robust disagreement. Often communities form around particular theories of justice, standing in contrast with other communities. In some respects, the Cold Wars, I and II, have roots in contrasting theories of justice; likewise, our polarized political parties.

In this program, we will discuss the concept of justice, seeking at least to arrive at some advanced clarity about the complexity of the concept and its application to economic, political, and social contexts.

Presenter

Thomas Walsh, PhD
