Dr. Darrol Bryant

Dr. Darrol Bryant was directly involved in the development of early interfaith programs that originated in the early years of HJI (UTS at that time). These included the first "theologians conferences" convened in Barrytown in the late 1970s, and, as an outgrowth of those meetings and with the support of our Founders and then president Dr. David S.C. Kim, the formation of the New Ecumenical Research Association (New ERA). Darrol also played a major role in New ERA's conferences on "God: The Contemporary Discussion" which took place throughout the 1980s; the three major interfaith gatherings known as the Assembly of the World's Religions which took place in 1985, 1990 and 1992; and many other interfaith initiatives and publications. Over several decades Darrol served as a beloved mentor and dear friend to many HJI students and alumni. He will be missed. The following In Memoriam pays tribute to Darrol. HJI sends its condolences to Darrol's wife, Susan, and the entire family.

M. Darrol Bryant Obituary

March 13, 1942 - March 1, 2025

With sad but full hearts we announce the passing of Darrol Bryant after several months of declining health.

Beloved husband of Susan Hodges Bryant, father extraordinaire to Ben (Isabel), Jessica, Lucas (Kirsty) and Emma (Clinton). Extra proud grandfather of Ethan, Kayla, Zoe, Sloane and Sydney. Their nickname for him was Grandpa Yeti. Also cherished by his in-laws Fred, Connie and Rosemary Hodges and the Bagale family.

He was the eldest of four children born to Alex and Debe (Hendrickson) Bryant. Missing his gentle guidance are his twin sisters Sherryl Roth (Roger) and Sherry Bryant, and his brother Kim Bryant (Anne), as well his many nieces and nephews.

Born in Pasco, Washington, during the Second World War, Darrol was raised in Rolla, North Dakota---a tight-knit family farm community under a big blue sky on the great northern plains.

While treasuring his roots (his childhood nickname was "Cowboy",) Darrol was destined to travel far and wide. He left Rolla to attend Concordia College in Moorhead, Minnesota. After studying philosophy and religion, he went on to obtain a Master of Divinity degree at Harvard University. After graduating from Harvard, he worked for the Lutheran World Federation in Geneva, Switzerland, on a youth project that took him to almost every country in South America. In that role he experienced the powerful effects of liberation theology in helping the poor and oppressed find a way to improve their lives.

Darrol then settled happily in Canada, accepting a teaching post at Wilfrid Laurier University and completing a doctoral program at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto. While in Toronto, he met Susan, his wife of almost 50 years. In 1973, he became a professor of Religion and Culture at Renison College at the University of Waterloo where he remained until his retirement in 2005 and was awarded the honour of Distinguished Professor Emeritus.

While having authored or edited over 25 books and organized dozens of international conferences, his abiding legacy will be among students and fellow trail blazers committed to interfaith dialogue. He was a gifted academic, yet he repeatedly emphasized that dialogue is more than the exchange of ideas. It also involves the experience of engaging one another, of participating in one another's religious life, practice and rituals.

Darrol travelled to India many times, forming fast friendships with scholars and practitioners in these communities. His great delight was guiding groups of students for a semester of study in India where he introduced them to life and people in Hindu ashrams, Sikh gudwaras, Buddhist monasteries, and Islamic and Christian communities. He was always warmly received.

Darrol was a straight-up fellow, with absolutely no guile or personal agenda. His family, friends and students, who often travelled with him, appreciated his gentle ways, his cornball humour, and his deep wisdom. He was wonderful to be with, whether in the classroom, around the card table, shooting hoops, paddling the Temagami wilderness or enjoying family in the 1000 Islands.

The family so appreciates the skilled and compassionate support provided by the doctors, nurses, and caregivers for Darrol in the past few months.

As was his wish, cremation has taken place. There will be a commemoration in the spring, when we can gather and celebrate the many seeds that Darrol has planted in our hearts.

To honour Darrol, donations to Rension University College would be greatly appreciated and may be arranged through the Erb & Good Family Funeral Home, 171 King St. S., Waterloo at 519-745-8445 or www.erbgood.com

Dr. Jonathan Wells was a member of the Unification Church from 1974 and was blessed in 1982. Thanks to Rev. Moon, after graduating from the Unification Seminary, Jonathan earned two PhDs. His first was Christian Theology from Yale University and his second was in Developmental Biology from UC Berkeley. Following this, he became a well-known critic of Darwinism when in 2000 he published the book Icons of Evolution, which basically exposed the dishonest “evidence” for Darwinism in high school and college textbooks.

Rev. Moon inspired Jonathan both through his Divine Principle theology and his vision for America. Specifically, he often spoke about how America is blessed by God not just for itself but to serve the world as an example of freedom.

Jonathan is survived by his wife Lucy Wells, his daughter Dr. Josie Olsen, her husband Lincoln, their three boys, Ethan, Mateo and Bodhi and his son Peter Wells. We miss him terribly but know his legacy against materialism will live on.
